SHE had $50,000,000 in Standard Oil shares, $20,000,000 in other stocks, in all $105,000,000 in securities, and $2,000,000 of real estate. She left $93,000,000 to her son, and left just $711 worth of clothes.

The national government will get $13,000,000 of Mrs. Harkness' money in inheritance tax.

WILLIAM FOX has bought 250 more theaters, seating 350,000 for $100,000,000.

Twenty-five years ago, Fox got into the theater business because his employer refused to raise his $17 a week salary. Fox had just married. The employer said, "Not only I can't raise your $17 a week, but you are getting $2 too much. I am going to pay what you are worth, $15."

FOX had saved $580 on $17 a week, got control of a tiny moving picture theater, that could take in $7.30 when packed. Now he has 300 theaters.

ALWAYS save something. If you have brains it will increase. If not, saving will keep you out of the poor house and the Potters' Field, anyhow.

A LEARNED New York legislator says married women ought not to work, and if their husbands earn as much as $2,000 a year, the woman's earnings should be taxed 20 per cent.

UNDER old laws a husband could take what his wife earned. Even now in England he

Salary Pleas Denied

Salary increases amounting to $24,360 for 14 additional employes in the Recorder of Deeds office were denied today by the County Commissioners in budget session. Salary increases totaling over $100,000 have been requested by county department heads.

The Commissioners today cut the budget $50,060. The Recorder of Deeds office was the hardest hit, when estimates amounting to $41,110 were refused. The Register of Wills office suffered a cut of $6,650. Since work on the budget was started last Monday, $157,242 in requests have been refused.

That the Commissioners intend to secure a less expensive office for the county superintendent of schools was learned today when they asked Superintendent Charles E. Dickey when his office lease expired. The superintendent's office is located in the Union Trust Building. The yearly rental is $6,024.

"The rent is too high," Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong said. Superintendent Dickey informed the Commissioners that the lease expires May 1, 1929. He was asked to make an effort to cancel the lease May 1, this year.

Fliers Finish Hop

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 27.—Clarence D. Chamberlin, noted trans-Atlantic flier, accompanied by Kenneth Lovejoy, airmail pilot of Pittsburgh, arrived in Greensburg at 12:07 p. m. today in an airmail plane.

Chamberlin and Lovejoy had taken off from Bettis Field, near McKeesport, at 11:45 a. m., on the 25-mile hop.

Chamberlin's tiny Sperry monoplane was forced down by high winds at Mifflin, Pa., Tuesday, and from there he had been making his tour by railroad. He deemed it more fitting to keep his engagement here in a plane, however.

After a banquet in his honor, the trans-Atlantic flier will go to New York by rail tonight.

THE WEATHER

Cloudy and slightly colder tonight; lowest temperature tonight between 10 and 15 degrees. Saturday partly cloudy and slightly colder.

What the Deed Says About Schenley Park

"TO HAVE and to hold the said tract of land and premises (known as 'Mount Airy') hereby granted or mentioned and intended so to be with appurtenances under the name and designation of 'Schenley Park' unto the party of the second part, to wit, the City of Pittsburgh and successors of the said city for purposes FOREVER for the use of the people of Pittsburgh and the PUBLIC as a PUBLIC PARK, and for the use and purpose of establishing on said ground a PUBLIC PARK and place of free attraction and healthful resort and OPEN AIR RECREATION for the people of Pittsburgh and the public and perpetually keeping and maintaining the same for such uses and purposes and FOR NO OTHER USE OR PURPOSE WHATEVER. Subject only to such reasonable rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the proper authorities of the said City of Pittsburgh governing the HOURS of ADMISSION and the CONDUCT and BEHAVIOR of persons visiting said PUBLIC PARK."

2 TRAPPED IN BLIZZARD DIE

FREEZE IN LOST SLEIGH

MALONE, N. Y., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—The tragedy of a mother trapped with frozen feet in an open sleigh by a northern blizzard, helplessly watching two of her four children, whom she was bringing from school, freeze to death in a night of storm was revealed here today. When the storm let up the husband found the sleigh with its dead and suffering occupants.

The woman, Mrs. Gilbert Dunn, today recited the story from a hospital bed where she was under treatment for exposure. She told how they had strayed from the road during a blinding snow storm into a field, where they were found.

The dead children were Ina and Lillian Dunn, 14 and 11. Evelyn, 9, was found to have both of her legs frozen to the knees when she was rescued. The youngest of the children, Gilbert, 5, was better sheltered from the storm and suffered only slightly.

Mrs. Dunn left the school with the children during the storm Wednesday afternoon, she said. The distance between her home, near Chateauguy, and the school was hardly more than a mile. The team had progressed but a short way when it encountered deep drifts across the road, floundered along for some distance and then stopped.

The snowfall increased and a high wind shut off sight of objects even a short distance away. The cold increased and the five occupants huddled together in the sleigh.

Mrs. Dunn finally attempted to get help, but when she attempted to walk found her feet were frozen.

While the night settled in and the storm continued the two older chil-

"Flying fields forbidden in Schenley Park" could be read between the lines in a brief, snappy paragraph in the deed for the property which was scanned by scores of persons in the county recorder's office today. The deed giving the old Croghan estate of "Mt. Airy" to the City of Pittsburgh was recorded October 30, 1889, and the old volume is marked by the finger prints of three generations.

It was pointed out by title examiners, real estate men and attorneys who examined the deed that the use of the park could not be diverted. The property is administered under the properly constituted authorities of the city government, represented by the Mayor and Council, and these officials have permission only to provide for its maintenance as a public recreation ground and regulate the hours of admission and the behavior of the visitors, according to the provisions of the deed.

Dies Saving Doll

LENA CANGELIER

Lena Cangelier, 6, of 1701 Fulton street, died last night in the Allegheny General Hospital, happy that she had saved her "dolly" from being burned. Wednesday, after giving the doll a bath, Lena placed it beside an open grate, where the doll's hair caught fire. She saved the doll, but her dress ignited, and burns caused her death.

WRITER BARRED AT PIT

Fannie Hurst ran into an obstacle yesterday in her quest of information concerning conditions in the mining villages of the Pittsburgh district. Coal and iron police at Moon Run mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Company would not permit the great writer to visit the strike-breakers' camp, where officers of the United Mine Workers of America charge commercialized vice flourishes and bootleggers dispense alcoholic products without hindrance.

Did Miss Hurst have credentials? Had she obtained a pass? No. Well, in that event they were sorry, but they could not allow her to inspect the camp. They had orders to admit no one who lacked credentials. They greatly regretted the necessity of barring her, but orders were orders.

J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, was reached by telephone, and asked if he would not authorize a tour of the village by the famous novelist. He was disposed to grant the permit, he said; unquestionably if Miss Hurst would wait a day

Girl Ransom Trap Fails

By International News Service

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Jan. 27.—Negotiations with a band of blackmailers or kidnapers having produced negative results, as have other "clues" in the search for their missing daughter, Mr. and Mrs. St. John Smith, heartbroken and discouraged, today prepared to return to their home in New York City.

It was undetermined whether an attempt would be made from there to communicate with the band of criminals claiming to have Frances St. John Smith, the golden-haired college freshman, a captive in New York.

A trap set for those who have been making ransom demands was sprung secretly late yesterday but failed to produce results. Under pre-arranged plans $12,000 in bills was brought from New York to Springfield on a forenoon train. It was dropped at an appointed place inside a Springfield department store.

Police watched and waited but the writer of the so-called "ransom letter" failed to appear.

"FOX" JURY PICKING SPEEDED

By International News Service.

COURTROOM, LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—That the taking of testimony in the trial of William Edward Hickman for the kidnaping and murder of 12-year-old Marian Parker would start next Monday, was indicated today when Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco announced he would stress every [illegible] to obtain a jury before the end of the week.

Judge Trabucco said he would hold sessions Saturday in the event the jury is not obtained today.

Intent upon speeding Hickman's trial, Judge Trabucco said he would preclude unnecessary questioning of prospective jurors by personally examining the talesmen.

Hickman took his accustomed seat behind his two young attorneys as the court was called to order.

He glanced toward the jury and then fixed his gaze upon Judge Trabucco on the bench.

MARINES DRIVE NICARAGUAN REBELS FROM STRONGHOLD

CAN'T FIND WOUNDED SANDINO

By International News Service.

MANAGUA, Jan. 27.—Accomplishing what a few weeks ago had been deemed almost impossible, United States marines today were firmly established on the summit of El Chipote, the mountain stronghold recently occupied by the rebel leader, Gen. Sandino.

At the peak was a force of about 400 marines and Nicaraguan constabulary, commanded by Maj. Archibald D. Young, who led his command slowly and carefully up the side of the mountain in a two-day march. El Chipote is about 5,000 feet high.

Although definite details were lacking and news of the occupation was brought back by marine airplane scouts, it was reported that rebel opposition to the marine advance was strong. Definite casualties were not known, although it was reported here that two marines had been wounded.

The defenders had fled, and as far as was no news of the whereabouts of Gen. Sandino, who is known to have been wounded during the recent bombing raid by marine aviators.

Ocotali, the former operating base of the rebel forces, has been abandoned as unsafe and useless.

1ST CUSTOMER PROVES BANDIT

"Stick 'em up and cash out," was the morning greeting from the first "customer" today in the confectionery store of John Weisman, 26 Roberts street. The stranger, a Negro, took $40 from the cash register while he kept a revolver pointed at Weisman, and then hurried away.

For the state to rebuke her industry by taxing her earnings 20 per cent would be something new.

"REMARKABLE recovery in stocks," say Wall Street reports, and "hope deferred maketh the heart sick," says the long-suffering bear.

Real buyers, speculators, and the out-and-out gamblers, forget overnight all about Chicago's Federal Reserve Bank raising the rediscount rate.

After all, money at 4 per cent is "cheap money," when you think you can win.

IT is sad for the bears. It will be worse in the long run for those that start gambling. There is no worse vice, none, not even drugs, that leads more directly to ruin in the end.

A million will realize that five years hence. Nobody pays attention now.

FOUR million in China are hungry.

Four hundred million are threatened with chaos in government, the horrors of civil war, famine and plague.

The Chinese were happier, or at least safer, before western science showed them how to kill wholesale with flying machines, machine guns and other civilized devices.

MANY throughout the country sympathized with J. Ogden Armour in his financial misfortunes, and the way in which, as he put it, he was "sent to the woods" by high finance.

When efficient finance took everything he had worth while, including Armour's stock in a Chicago baseball scheme, it ignored, as worthless, some oil stock, so Mrs. Armour kept it, and now it is worth $30,000,000.

FRED GUDE, 18, son of a retired business man, got a poor mark in high school, was afraid he would be disgraced and killed himself.

Modern education has some dangerous features. One is setting false standards of excellence, that drive weak children beyond their strength, and sometimes to despair.

When darkness had fallen Lillian died, and shortly before daybreak Mrs. Dunn discovered Ina dead.

The husband here took up the story. He said that he remained at home yesterday to care for a 4-year-old child while his wife went for the other children. When dusk approached and they still had not driven into the yard he became worried. Leaving the baby alone he started on a search, but the intensity of the storm forced him back.

In the morning he stopped the first passer-by, asking him to remain with the baby, and started out on a search. In a field a half mile from his home he found the sleigh, almost drifted under, with the mother still holding the dead and living children close to her for warmth.

"THE FOX," UNMOVED BY BRUTAL MURDER, FIGHTS LAW'S VENGEANCE

"THE FOX"

William Edward Hickman, self-styled "The Fox," and confessed killer of Marian Parker, 12, now faces a murder trial in Los Angeles court. Long hours alone in his cell have failed to bring remorse for his horrible fiend-killing.

MARIAN PARKER

The body of Marian, daughter of a Los Angeles bank official, by whom Hickman was employed, was kidnaped by "The Fox," held a prisoner, forced to write ransom notes and then returned to her parents, strangled to death and mutilated. The girl's father, Perry M. Parker, aided in obtaining a parole for Hickman after he had been convicted of forgery.

WHAT DOES THE MIRROR SHOW?

Hickman, in his cell, spends much time preparing himself meticuously for his court appearances. His attorneys are basing their fight to save him from the electric chair on a plea of insanity. As he spends long minutes before his little hand mirror, there stares back at him the image of what—the face of self-aggrandized criminal who thought he could commit the "perfect crime" or the eyes of a demoniacal, insane killer?

SIFT SHOOTING AT BOMB SCENE

Mrs. Carmella Martini, of 15 McKnight street, West End, under whose porch several sticks of dynamite were found two days ago, sent a call to West End police last night when she heard several shots fired in the rear of her yard.

A squad of police under Lieut. Harry Hatters failed to find the persons who fired the shots.

COASTING ACCIDENT KILLS ONE AT ALTOONA

ALTOONA, Pa., Jan. 27.—Coasting accidents claimed one life and resulted in serious injuries to two others last night. William Kidwell, 8, Blandburg, died en route to a hospital after his sled collided with an automobile. Donald Suckling, 12, Hollidaysburg, suffered a crushed skull when his sled ran into an auto, and Dorothy Crownover, 18, Altoona, suffered fractures of her right leg when her sled hit a pole.

ACQUIT MAN IN EAGLES' CLUB RAID

MERCER, Pa., Jan. 27.—William Otto Stewart of the Eagles Club of Greenville, on trial on a charge of illegal possession of liquor, was acquitted today when Judge J. S. Henninger instructed the jury to return a not guilty verdict because of insufficient evidence. Officers said they found less than a half pint of liquor in a raid on the clubroom.

Cold to Continue In District for Several Days

Winter will keep a firm grip on this region for several days, Forecaster W. S. Brotzman announced, with the mercury falling to between 10 and 15 degrees tonight and slightly colder predicted for tomorrow.

Last night's official low was 18, but 9 and 10 were reported from many suburbs. The cold belt extends west to the Rockies, the map shows, points in the Northwest states recording temperatures from 6 to 14 below zero this morning. Skies here will be mostly overcast, the weather man said. There will be no snow and little wind.

POLICEMAN HIT BY TAXICAB

Struck by a taxicab at Fifth avenue and Bigelow boulevard, early today, Patrolman Frank Brush, 38, of 184 Forty-seventh street, was taken to the Mercy Hospital by the driver, E. A. Barnhill, 21, of 421 Arch street. Patrolman Brush suffered an injury to his right leg, possibly a fracture, it was stated at the hospital. Barnhill was arrested on a reckless driving charge.

RECOMMEND OHIOAN FOR U. S. JUDGE POST

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Appointment of former Congressman Israel M. Foster of Ohio to be judge of the United States Court of Claims was recommended to President Coolidge yesterday by Representatives Begg of Ohio and Tilson of Connecticut, the Republican floor leaders of the House of Representatives.

RAIL COUNSEL TALKS AT TRAFFIC BANQUET HERE

Edward F. Flynn of St. Paul, Minn., assistant vice president and general counsel of the Great Northern Railway, addressed the fourteenth annual banquet of the Traffic and Transportation Association last night in the Hotel Schenley. Registrar of Wills Joseph N. Mackrell was toastmaster. E. J. Seimon, president of the association, also spoke.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS FOR TRIANGLE

Before the end of 1928 an automatic electric traffic control system will be in use in the downtown district of Pittsburgh, with "Stop" and "Go" signals at 100 intersections.

An ordinance creating a councilmanic bond issue of $125,000 for installing the system will be presented to Council Monday. Its approval is regaraded as certain.

Representatives of the Better Traffic Committee appeared before Council yesterday and assured that body the proposed system will speed up traffic in the downtown triangle, tend to lessen accidents and permit a reduction in the number of traffic officers now on duty in the congested district.

There are about 150 police assigned to traffic work in the downtown section now. The automatic system will permit a decrease of at least 40 men. The signals will be owned and maintained by the city and the electric current furnished by the Duquesne Light Company, according to present plans.

LEGION HEADS SEE -:- CRIPPLED VETS -:- CITE SCHOOL CHILDREN

VISIT "COLONEL JOE"

Col. Joseph H. Thompson, of Beaver Falls, past state commander of the American Legion, was host to legion officials on their recent visit to the Pittsburgh district. James J. Deighan, state adjutant, and Edwin E. Hollenback, state commander, talked over "that Paris trip" with the colonel.

SEE POPPIES MADE BY VETS

Commander Hollenback, with Mrs. Frederick P. Moore, state president of American Legion Auxiliary, visited the Veterans' Hospital at Aspinwall and saw the veterans making poppies which are to be sold by the Legion. The funds realized will be devoted to aiding the Legion's program of hospitalization and child welfare. The poppies are made by disabled veterans who do not receive compensation from the government.

CITE SCHOOL CHILDREN

Carl Feldhorn and Charlotte Perry, pupils at Frick Training School, received medals as the boy and the girl who best typify service, honor, leadership, courage and scholarship. Charles M. Coyne Post sponsored the awards.

SWISSVALE KILLER FREED

HARRISBURG, Jan. 27.—A seven-year fight for life was rewarded today when the State Board of Pardons announced it had recommended a pardon for Antonio Caliendo, Allegheny county, serving a commuted sentence in the Western Penitentiary for first-degree murder. Caliendo's plea for pardon was argued before the board last October, but action on the case was delayed until today.

Caliendo was convicted of the murder of Dominick Cambrea in Swissvale, Allegheny county, on February 19, 1921. He was found guilty of first degree murder and sentenced to be electrocuted on May 24, 1923.

CLAIM SELF-DEFENSE

Counsel for Caliendo claimed that the murder was committed in self-defense. The board was told Caliendo was marked to be killed because he had refused to contribute to secret societies.

There was only one other Allegheny case among the seven recommended for a pardon. It was the application of Ignazio Castigiolio, convicted of second degree murder. Among those refused from Allegheny were Louis Markowitz, larceny, and John Yontis, larceny.

DAMAGE OF $35,000 IN FIRE

MONONGAHELA, Pa., Jan. 27.—Fire that raged for eight hours here this morning wiped out the Liparulo block, containing the Chess Park Restaurant and the Liparulo grocery store, with a loss estimated at $35,000. The fire, of undetermined origin, started about 1:30 o'clock and was not subdued until 9:30 o'clock.

Frank Myers, who resigned as chief of the Monongahela volunteer firemen on January 1, and whose place has not been filled, responded when a third alarm was sounded and assumed charge.

2 STUDENTS DIE IN PLANE FALL

M'LEAN, Tex., Jan. 27.—Two high school youths were killed near here Thursday when the airplane in which they were passengers crashed.

Donald Moring and William Miller, both 18, were riding with Harold English, Amarillo (Tex.) flier, when the plane went into a nose dive.

English was only slightly injured.

WALLPAPER LUXURY IN UNION CAMPS

Fannie Hurst continued her tour of the mining district yesterday, visiting Moon Run where the strikers and their suffering families have been living in barracks for two years. Mrs. Walter Kutzavitch pointed with pride to the walls of the frame shack she and her family call home, saying, "It makes things more cozy when the walls are papered." "It helps to keep out the cold, too," she added as sort of an afterthought.

STRICKEN ON STREET, DIES

Stricken while walking downtown late yesterday, Mrs. Elizabeth Theisen of Mollennaur, was placed in a taxicab and taken to the Allegheny General Hospital, but died before receiving medical attention.

Police first ordered the woman removed to the home of her daughter, but when her condition became worse she was sent to the hospital. The cause of death was given as heart disease. The body was taken to the morgue.

DRINKS POISON AFTER ARRESTS

When her two roommates were arrested yesterday for joy riding with boy companions at 4 o'clock in the morning, Mary Ellen Fedar, 20, 3922 Fifth avenue, considered it a disgrace to herself. So she swallowed some poison tablets with a soft drink, she told Magistrate A. D. Branden in Morals Court today. Mary spent the night at the Homeopathic Hospital and was feeling all right when she appeared in court. Discharged!

LAWRENCEVILLE BOY BITTEN BY DOG, DIES

LEO RICHI

Leo Richi, 10, of 5414 Harrison street, died yesterday in the St. Francis Hospital from hydrophobia, which developed three days ago after he was bitten on the leg by a dog near his home. The dog was shot by police shortly after its attack on the boy.

MILDRED AND RUTH ANDERS ETHEL MATTISON

Mildred and Ruth Anders and Ethel Mattison, appearing at the Davis Theater, were among the theatrical talent presenting the midnight show at the Sheridan Square Theater last night for benefit of the destitute families of the Pittsburgh mine area. Proceeds totaled $4,000.

CROWD JAMS THEATER

It was another sell-out. As at the first miners' benefit given last week at the Davis Theater, the "S. R. O." sign made its appearance early. A long line formed in front of the Sheridan Square Theater half an hour before the doors opened at 11:30. Ticket sales, at $1 a seat, netted over $2,300. A collection swelled the total over $3,000 and contributions, including a pledge of $500 from Burgess John J. Cavanaugh, of Homestead, shoved the proceeds past the $4,000-mark.

"BUSY" DOCTOR TESTIFIES

Dr. Thomas W. McConnell, of the Jenkins Arcade, who was reported by a deputy sheriff as "too busy" with patients in his office yesterday to comply with a subpena summoning him to testify as a witness in a divorce case before Judge James B. Drew, appeared this morning in court.

The physician was not questioned by the court regarding his excuse. He testified regarding the physical condition of Mrs. Florence Thomas, 164 Lakewood avenue, West View, whose divorce suit against her husband, Roger Thomas, was being heard.

Lindy Not Jumpy He's Just Wise, Will Says

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Jan. 27.—Got a laugh the other day by some fellow writing from Panama saying that Lindbergh was "showing signs of nervousness, that he would pick up a book and then lay it down and not read it". I saw him do the same thing in the Embassy in in Mexico, but I just thought to myself, there is another example of this boy's splendid judgment. If he had read any of the books that he picked up, I would begin to have doubts about his condition. If more people layed down books without reading them we would have more Lindberghs and fewer Loebs and Leopolds.

Eagerness to Serve On Jury Kills Man

JAMES T. DICKEY, 42, of Brookview Stop, Evergreen road, Ross township, was found dead at the wheel of his automobile this morning, victim of his own eagerness to report promptly for jury duty.

Dickey had been suffering from a weak heart. When his automobile balked about half a mile from his home he tried to push it. He had climbed back into the car and was seated at the wheel when he slumped over dead.

The body was found by pedestrians.

HER STAGE DREAM ENDS

MARGARET M'DONOUGH

Margaret McDonough, 16, of 4934 Harrison street, who disappeared from her home November 30, last, found working in an Atlantic City hotel, to again disappear, was picked up by the Travelers' Aid Society in New York City yesterday, according to word received by the Missing Persons Bureau here. Margaret's hope of becoming a stage star has been rudely shattered.

ARREST TWO AS RUM RUNNERS

Prohibition agents today arrested two automobile drivers on charges of having moonshine in their machines and after entering federal charges turned them over to police when the motorists failed to produce driver's cards.

Isaac Stein, 3515 Frazier street, arrested at Elm and Clark streets, was alleged to have had five gallons of moonshine and Ercole Trioan, 1725 Bedford avenue, was said to have carried moonshine from an automobile into a restaurant at 421 Water street. The restaurant proprietor, John Barar, was arrested after 30 gallons of moonshine had been found in his place.

KRESGE FOUNDS ORPHANAGE

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 27.—Sebastian S. Kresge, wealthy chain store owner, has donated $725,000 for an orphanage near Detroit where children will be cared for in individual houses and reared in the atmosphere of a private home.

This gift is announced by the Kresge Foundation, through Earl Groth, general manager of the Kresge store here. The gift will go directly to the Methodist Children's Home Society of Detroit in a lump of $225,000 for the purchase of 28 acres just outside that city.

ARREST WOMAN AS CANDY, MILK THIEF

Accused of having stolen a box of candy and a bottle of milk from the drug store of Fogle & Donohue, 2601 Perrysville avenue, at noon today, Mrs. Catherine Creighton, 42, of 2650 Ellis avenue, was arrested by Lieut. John J. Lynch and Thomas Shanahan, charged with being a suspicious person. She was lodged in Central Station for a hearing in Morals Court.

HOWARD THURSTON FANNIE HURST

Fannie Hurst, famous novelist who is writing a series of stories exclusively for The Sun-Telegraph on conditions in the Western Pennsylvania mining camps, visited the Sheridan Square Theater last night where the stage folk, appearing in local theaters this week, were giving a midnight benefit show for the miners' families. Back stage she met celebrities of the theater world and lauded the plan of Howard Thurston, famous magician, who, next Thursday, will give a benefit appearance for the same fund.

EX-BANK CASHIER OF FAYETTE INDICTED

Earl S. Axton, former cashier of the First National Bank of Fairchance, Fayette county, was indicted yesterday by the federal grand jury for embezzlement and making false returns to the Comptroller of the Treasury. It is charged he embezzled $4,075.18.

HOUSE VOTES $2,100,000 FOR SOLDIERS' HOME

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—An appropriation of $2,100,000 for construction of 12 barracks at the Pacific branch, Soldiers' Home, in Los Angeles county, Cal., was authorized in a bill passed by the House yesterday and sent to the Senate.

Comics—21 of them in full colors — will entertain you and your children in Sunday's Sun-Telegraph.

MINE POLICE BAR FANNIE HURST

MOON RUN CAMP IS CLOSED TO WRITER

credentials could be arranged. But he was unwilling to act until he consulted the officer in charge of significance of the words, "No Admittance Today," on a flag fluttering from a tall staff.

LIKE WAR TIMES

To be required to obtain permission to enter an American village of some hundreds of people was a novel experience to Miss Hurst. The situation emphasized the similitude of the strike to war. It was as if she were seeking to enter a town occupied by military forces and governed by martial law. Miss Hurst waited until she became chilled, then entered the police barracks, and continued to wait. But the desired permit was slow in coming, and if it came at all it was after her departure.

Miss Hurst had hoped to be able to make an unexpected visit to a strikebreakers' camp.

She was particularly interested in the Pittsburgh Coal Company because it is the largest coal company in the world and is charged by the unions with deliberately violating its agreement with the union.

Before making her futile effort to inspect the strikebreakers' camps Miss Hurst visited the strikers' barracks. They have been housed with their families in rough shacks for two years, and Miss Hurst desired to study the effect of living in such primitive habitations for so long a period.

She noted the barrels in which they caught rain water for washing, she noted their cooking facilities, and the methods of economizing space when as many as a dozen persons were living in three rooms. She praised their pathetic little efforts at ornamentation, she fondled the babies, and patted the dogs.

Headed by James Dinsdale, chief of the pickets, who has been arrested so many times, he says, that whenever he encounters a coal and iron policeman he bids him serve his warrant—headed by Dinsdale, the strikers flocked around Miss Hurst to tell their stories. Some had spent their entire lives in the village from which they have been ejected, and they were especially bitter. Since their old homes were taken over by the Negro strikebreakers, they asserted, there has been a saturnalia of licentiousness and crime in Moon Run. They told horrid stories of murder, of violation of women . . .

Dinsdale accompanied Miss Hurst as far as the shanty where he does picket duty. Across the road was a coal and iron policeman on sentry duty. Dinsdale said he dared go no farther. To cross the line would be to invite arrest.

Fannie Hurst will continue her investigation today. She expects to return to New York tonight. Her next article will appear in the Sunday Sun-Telegraph.

ASKS $50,000 FOR ARREST

William Woods entered suit in Common Pleas Court against Harry Katz, asking $50,000 damages for false arrest. Woods alleges that he was a tenant in a house owned by Katz at 7147 Harrison avenue, Swissvale. On March 28, last, an information was made against Woods by Katz before Alderman Thomas F. Holloran on a charge of fraudulently removing goods under levy. On June 24 last he was arrested and confined in jail four days when the charge was withdrawn at the request of the prosecutor. Woods alleges that he was illegally deprived of his liberty, and humiliated before his friends and associates.

BOBTOWN WOMAN TRIES TO END LIFE

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 27.—Mrs. Anna Buda, of Bobtown, is being held on a suspicious person charge after a near-successful suicide attempt by hanging yesterday. Police say she was crazed by moonshine.

The tragedy of Julia Bruns, "The Perfect American Beauty," is a dramatic array of incidents which followed the life of this noted stage star. It's in The Sunday Sun-Telegraph.

Highest Authorities Pay Tribute to

RICHMAN'S CLOTHES

Established 1879

Last Week in Chicago—

Mr. Alexander Walker, President of Strong, Hewat & Co., one of America's foremost weavers of fine virgin wool fabrics, addressed the convention of the International Association of Clothing Designers. Speaking of the need for new ideas in men's clothing he said:

"I want to tell you about the progressiveness of The Richman Bros. Co., as compared to some of our friends. You can go through the Richman Brothers store and there is not a single new idea in men's clothes that you will not find."

This Week from London—

In a letter received this week from The Daily News Record of New York, the official paper representing the entire textile industry, they say:

"Our London office has asked us to procure for them one of your $22.50 suits, size 36 regular, to be sent to them as soon as possible. We presume they wish to show British manufacturers what at least one of our domestic manufacturers can do in the way of producing good clothing at a low price. We would greatly appreciate it if you would express a suit to us here with bill for same. We will then re-ship it to London."

This Great Healing Oil Must Banish Eczema and Skin Trouble

Or Your Money Back. That's the Plan on Which Emerald Oil Is Sold by McCulloch's 10 Convenient Drug Stores and All Good Druggists.

Make up your mind today that you are going to give your skin a real chance to get well.

You've probably been like a lot of other people, convinced that the only thing to use was an ointment or salve (some of them are very good), but in the big majority of cases these sticky salves simply clog the pores and the condition primarily remains the same.

Go to McCulloch's 10 Convenient Drug Stores or any other good drug list today and get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil.

The very first application will give you relief and a few short treatments will thoroughly convince you that by sticking faithfully to it for a short while your skin troubles will be a thing of the past.

Don't expect a single bottle to do it all at once but one bottle we know will show you beyond all question that you have at last discovered one way to restore your skin to perfect health.

Remember, that Moone's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful, penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue and that it must give complete satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded.

crushed by cachexia (run-down condition)

When you lose your rose-colored glasses and are constantly troubled by physical and nervous exhaustion, indigestion, acidity, constipation and kindred evils—just try eating yeast! Sounds too simple maybe, but the fact is that this marvelous food has brought welcome relief to millions of run down, weak, ailing people.

Get the best yeast, though—Yeast Foam Tablets. These pellets are pure yeast; you eat them like candy. Everyone likes their taste. Convenient to carry; they keep; they don't form gas. 5c for the handy packet or 50c for the 10-day bottle.

Eat Yeast Foam Tablets for cachexia (run-down condition). Loss of appetite. Indigestion. Constipation. Boils—Pimples.

Speaker

WILLIAM T. PAGE

William Tyler Page, clerk of the House of Representatives for the last nine years and the author of "The American's Creed," will be the principal speaker at the annual banquet of Islam Grotto Tuesday in McCreery's. George H. O'Connor, Victor recording artist, a singer of southern melodies, heads the list of entertainers.

DEATH ROLL

Percy W. Jenkins.

Percy W. Jenkins, 79, died yesterday in his home, 4626 Chatsworth avenue, Hazelwood. Mr. Jenkins was born in Minersville and had been a resident of Pittsburgh 40 years. He was a member of the Ames Methodist Episcopal Church, Joppa Lodge No. 698, F. & A. M.; Shiloh Chapter No. 257, R. A. W.; Ascalon Commandery No. 53, Knights Templar; Syria Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S.; Hazel Glen Lodge No. 1043, I. O. O. F.; Glen Hazel Encampment No. 57, I. O. O. F., and Pittsburgh Lodge No. 46, I. O. O. M. He leaves his widow, two sons, two daughters, one sister and three grandchildren.

James K. Goodwin.

James K. Goodwin, 52, councilman of East McKeesport, died in his home in Chicora street yesterday. Councilman Goodwin, born in McKeesport, spent practically all his life in that district and was a prominent figure in civic and social circles. He was secretary of the Aliquippa Hall Association of the Knights of Pythias, past commander of McKeesport Council No. 424, Knights of Malta; a member of Wilmerding Lodge No. 612, F. & A. M., and the United Presbyterian Church of East McKeesport. He leaves his widow and two sisters.

George A. Stewart.

George A. Stewart, 78, formerly of Fulton county, died early yesterday in the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. H. Blackmore, in Charles street, Glenshaw. Stewart was born in Wells Valley, Fulton county, and was identified with education in the schools of Pennsylvania and Virginia for 25 years before he retired in 1914. Besides his daughter, Mrs. Blackmore, he leaves his widow, three sons and nine grandchildren.

Mrs. Martha A. Zeigler.

Mrs. Martha Aleda Zeigler, widow of the Rev. Dr. Thomas R. Zeigler, who was assistant pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church for over 25 years, died at her home, 156 Wabash avenue, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Zeigler was born in Beaver county in 1849 and was a member of the Second Presbyterian Church for 50 years. She leaves two daughters and eight grandchildren.

CLUB PLANS HIKE TO AVALON SUNDAY

The Pittsburgh Hiking Club will walk Sunday from Perrysville and Kennedy avenues, North Side, through Riverview Park to Avalon. The distance to be covered is about six miles.

"A slice of liver a day keeps the doctor away," modern science reveals in The American Weekly, magazine section of The Sunday Sun-Telegraph.

Don't dope YOUR COUGH

IT is not wise to use remedies which depend upon "dope" such as narcotics, chloroform, cannabis or tar products. They may stop your cough temporarily by numbing the tissues, as most cough mixtures do, but this is not enough.

The inflamed air passages must be soothed naturally, the germ-laden mucus loosened and expelled in order to effect a lasting recovery. PERTUSSIN assists Nature to accomplish these results in a remarkably short time—and it is absolutely harmless.

BUS LINES LINK -:- PITTSBURGH -:- TO BOTH COASTS

TRANCONTINENTAL

One can now journey by motor bus from California to Pittsburgh and in a short time the Pittsburgh-Washington and Pittsburgh-New York-Boston links will be in operation. The Yelloway Line, with 303 large buses, prides itself on operating the longest bus line in the world, a continuous chain from Los Angeles and San Francisco direct to Pittsburgh. Buses leave Pittsburgh every evening at 7:30 o'clock and arrive at Dayton, O., at 6:30 in the morning, connecting with the St. Louis bus. There is another change at Kansas City and one at Denver.

JOHN G. PURINGTON F. ISENSEE

Both these travelers came over the Yelloway from San Francisco and they were enthusiastic in their regard for trans-continental bus riding. "Comfortable, swift, pleasant and gives opportunity for seeing more of towns and cities," Purington said. "Yes, and the small group of passengers in each bus makes for more jolly companionship en route," added Isensee.

THEODORE BLOSS EARL VOSBURG

During the five years Bloss has been with the Eighth Field Artillery in the Hawaiian Islands, America has progressed greatly, so the soldier hopped off a train at Denver and took a bus to Pittsburgh. Vosburg said the comfort of the luxuriant buses was a huge relief after the hard leather of a saddle on a bucking cayuse. He got on the bus at Salt Lake City, and is heading for Wyoming, Pa.

'THREW KNIVES' ASKS DIVORCE

Charging that his wife, Stella Crock, 126 Negley avenue, assumed the role of dictator in their home, that swore at him for reading newspapers, threw knives and dishes at him, forced him to do the housework and abused his 8-year-old daughter by a former marriage, Leo A. Crock, 1307 Chislett street, filed a bill of particulars in his divorce suit yesterday. The couple were married in 1920 and were separated in 1927.

JURY DISAGREES ON LOST GEMS

A Common Pleas Court jury disagreed on whether the William Penn Hotel should be responsible for diamonds worth $3,907 sent by William Braumstein to Joseph Steinberg, at the hotel, and not received by Steinberg. The jury was discharged today by Judge Richard W. Martin.

Braumstein, suing the hotel, asserted he mailed the diamonds to Steinberg by registered mail on February 26, 1923.

Judge Deposed

JUDGE CARLOS HARDY

Springing a startling surprise as the trial of William Edward Hickman, "The Fox" killer, opened in Los Angeles, Jerome Walsh, chief defense counsel, asked a change of courts on the ground that Judge Carlos S. Hardy, of County Superior Court, was "biased and prejudiced." Presiding Judge Victor McLucas acquiesced to his plea and appointed Judge J. J. Trabucco, before whom the trial reconvened yesterday.

SHALER MAN LEAVES ESTATE VALUED $7,500

F. E. Anthony, late of Shaler township, left a $7,500 estate, according to his will probated yesterday. After a real estate bequest to three sisters, he gave the remainder of his estate to his wife, Alice S. Anthony.

David S. Robbs, late of Library, by his will left his $6,500 estate to his daughter and two sons.

Elizabeth A. Robb, of Pittsburgh, left her $7,500 estate to her daughter, Laura V. Leake, and to her son Howard A. Robb, in equal shares.

SEEK TO IMPOUND 20TH WARD BALLOT BOX

Attorney E. O. Spotts, Jr., has filed a petition in Common Pleas Court asking for the impounding of the ballot box of the Twenty-sixth District of the Twentieth Ward, Pittsburgh. The petition, which was signed by Emilie Mathias, Robert G. Jenkins and H. D. Stange, recites that the petitioners have reason to believe fraud was committed at the fall election.

PLEASANT RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young, yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unsightly pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure.

Clogged bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanishes and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets will save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous griping. Take nightly before retiring. Results will amaze you.

Thousands of men and women would never be without Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Know them by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Lesson No. 6

Question: Why is emulsified cod-liver oil so highly recommended as food for nursing mothers?

Answer: Because it benefits the nutritional condition not only of the mother but of baby as well.

Mothers should keep vitamin-nourished with

Sure Way to Stop Night Coughing

A Prescription that Ends Night Coughs in 15 Minutes

Persistent night coughing is usually due to causes which cough syrups and patent medicines do not touch. A remarkable prescription known as Thoxine, working on an entirely different principle, goes direct to the cause, and is guaranteed to stop the stubbornest cough within 15 minutes. One swallow is all that's needed. If it fails, get your money back. No chloroform or other harmful drugs. Safe for children. Equally good for sore throat, for which purpose it is far superior to gargles. Ask for Thoxine. 15c, 60c and $1.00. At all druggists.

HOUSE ROBBER MUST SERVE 5-10 YRS.

A carnival of robbing houses in various cities came to an end yesterday in Criminal Court when Judge James R. Macfarlane sentenced James Houser, 28, with "the nation" as his home, to the Western Penitentiary for 5 to 10 years. Houser admitted ransacking 15 houses in the East End, North Side and South Hills since coming here from St. Louis December 16. His scheme was to rent a room in a house, giving a worthless check for a month's rent in advance, and sack the house when the landlord was absent. Houser was caught January 16 in a police trap, and much loot was found on him. He is wanted in St. Louis, Columbus and Akron, O., Columbus, Ga., Wheeling, W. Va., and other cities, police said.

NEW GUNBOAT PUT ON DUTY

By Universal Service

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The Guam, first of six gunboats building at Shanghai, China, for the United States, has been commissioned and is now on duty with the Yangtse River patrol, the Navy Department announces. The remaining five will be completed shortly, it was stated.

The ships are to replace obsolete gunboats now in service in the Far East, most of which were taken over from the Spanish Navy following the Spanish-American War. The new craft are of an especial design built to negotiate the gorges of the Yangtse River at all seasons of the year. They are 139 feet long, 27 wide and draw only five feet of water. They carry two three-inch guns and eight machine guns.

PHILIPPINE EXTERNAL TRADE IS $271,425,556

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The external trade of the Philippine Islands for the year ended December 31, 1927, aggregated $271,425,556, as compared with $256,183,211 the previous year, the War Department has been advised. The exports amounted to $155,574,035, an increase of $18,610,764 in excess of last year. Imports were $115,851,471, a decrease of $1,447,321. Practically three-fourths of the export trade was to the United States.

Little Green Capsule Stops Rheumatic Agony

One Every Hour for Ten Hours and Relief Is Almost Certain.

Often in Five Days, Even the Tenderness Is Gone.

The fame of the little green capsule, because of its canny power to speedily stop the terrible rheumatic pain that make life almost unbearable, is rapidly spreading all over America.

You go about conquering your careless rheumatic enemy in a different way—a knock-out way. Every hour the first day you take one little green capsule for just ten hours—then relief comes.

The second day, take one every two hours for 14 hours—Then take little green capsules every day until every last little twinge and every bit of tenderness is gone and your rheumatic troubles have ceased.

The little green capsule now so much in demand from coast to coast must have a name so it is known to every worthwhile drug store in America as Allenrhu Number 2.

For your own protection insist on Allenrhu Number 2 and please remember this—the little green Capsule must give you prompt relief—must give you abundant satisfaction—must free you from rheumatic distress or the price you pay for the first full bottle will be promptly refunded by McCulloch's Convenient Drug Stores or any reputable druggist in America.

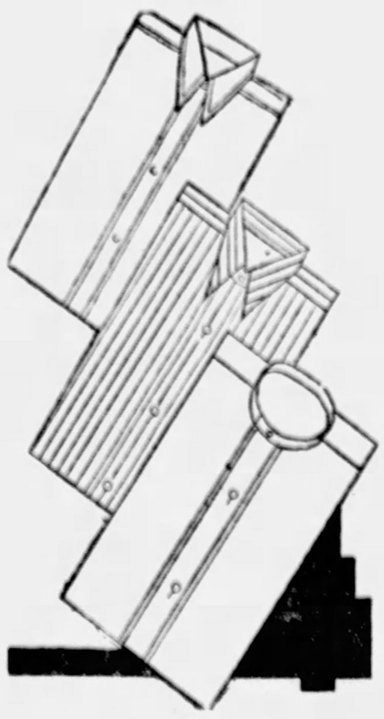
Hundreds of Specially Purchased Men's Shirts in January Sale

$1.45 each
or 3 for $4.25



At the beginning of this sale we had 6,000 brand new shirts to offer at this surprisingly low price. The maker, one of the most reputable in the country, had given us special price concessions. Hence we were able to return the saving to you, by lowering our regular price. Hundreds of men have bought, many in half-dozen lots, but we have still a good selection to offer.

The materials in the shirts are of selected quality. Pre-shrunk English broadcloths, (white only) fancy-striped broadcloths, rayon-striped madras, dimity cords and other wanted materials.

All shirts are in two styles—neckband or collar-attached. All are correctly sized — from 13½ to 18, full-cut, and exactingly tailored. All have full length center pleats, six-button fronts and large buttons. The sleeve lengths are 33, 34 and 35 inches.

LEGION CHIEFS BANQUETED AT NEW CASTLE

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 27.—One thousand people, including members of the American Legion from New Castle and Beaver and Butler counties, last night attended the banquet held in the Scottish Rite Cathedral under the auspices of Perry S. Gaston Post No. 343, American Legion, in honor of Edward E. Spafford of Indianapolis, Ind., national commander of the Legion, and Edwin B. Hollenback of Philadelphia, state commander.

Post Commander A. Edward Russell introduced Past Commander Walter W. Braham as toastmaster. The speakers were Commander Spafford, Commander Hollenback and Burgess Bill Levis of Beaver Falls. The national commander was introduced by District Deputy Commander Pat J. Dempsey and the state commander by Commander Russell. Commander Spafford spoke on the principles of the Legion, what it stands for and what it will fight for. Among other things, he said the Legion was for a large Navy, the support of the government in its Nicaraguan policy and tolerance.

SEEK GIRL, MAN IN MURDER

By Universal Service

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—A woman and a man, companions of William Nolan, postal employe found shot to death, are being sought for questioning by authorities. They are Steve Griffin and Anna Barron.

According to Mrs. Anna Nolan, the slain man's aunt, he was often in the company of the two, and had left the house Wednesday night with them. German Deaconess Hospital authorities found him dead in the emergency entrance.

MAGNESIA BEST FOR GASSY STOMACH

Bisurated Magnesia Promptly Ends Gas, Sourness and Acid Indigestion

If everything you eat turns to gas and your stomach is a constant ferment of sourness and Acid Indigestion, try taking a little pure Bisurated Magnesia after meals for a while and get the immediate relief from stomach trouble this simple prescription unfailingly gives.

It is a serious mistake to seek relief from Indigestion or a bad stomach by using pepsin or other artificial digestants. You get relief but weaken the stomach and do not reach the cause which, nine times in ten, is simply "too much acid" in the stomach. Bisurated Magnesia, taken after meals, dissolves or neutralizes this acid, sweetens and cleans up the stomach, drives out gas and bloat and lets the stomach digest your food as nature intended without a particle of trouble.

May Drug Company and reliable druggists everywhere supply the genuine Bisurated Magnesia in both powder and tablets in sealed packages. Do not confuse with ordinary citrate, milk or lump magnesia. Be sure to get Bisurated, which is not a laxative and is especially prepared for stomach trouble.

George Jessel, Who Balked At Warner's Vitaphone, Signs Contract With Tiffany-Stahl

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS,
Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.

GEORGE JESSEL is to return to Hollywood to make a series of two or three pictures for the Tiffany-Stahl Productions. Tiffany-Stahl plan to star Mr. Jessel in a series of Jewish stories. The first is "The Schlemiel." I hope you can translate it. It means, I believe, someone who is the reverse of a pleasant person. I am not sure, so if I am wrong don't all start to correct me at once.

Mr. Jessel, perhaps I should explain, was not eliminated from the cast of "The Jazz Singer" because he is not a good actor, but because he asked too much money for the Vitaphone accompaniment.

Courage is always a desirable quality in the movies. That is, if selected for him. He, therefore, one is sincere in furthering his not conscientiously direct a comedy career. Dr. Ludwig Berger, who resigned from the company. All was brought to this country by the this happened at Christmas time Fox Company, found that he could and for a few weeks it looked as if Dr. Berger might have to return to Germany without the American contract he so desired. But good directors are too scarce to go abegging. Emil Jannings knew his work in Germany and over at Paramount they give Mr. Jannings nearly anything he wants. To make a long story short, Dr. Berger will direct Mr. Jannings in "Koncert," by Herman Bahr. Naturally, the title will be changed. Dr. Berger is preparing the continuity while Herr Jannings finishes "The Patriot," his next picture.

Just one month more of freedom and then Mary Astor becomes Mrs. Kenneth Hawks. She and the young supervisor of Fox productions have set February 23 as their wedding day. While it is to be a small wedding with only the family and intimate friends, Mary will wear the conventional bridal veil and orange blossoms and she will be attended by Isabel Johnstone, as her maid of honor. William Hawks will do the best man honors for his brother. All this information was whispered to me by Miss Arlen on the set at the Fox Company, where she is playing a female crook in "Dressed to Kill." "You were right," she said, "When you said February. We are going to New York and Cuba on our honeymoon and, of course, it's all very exciting." Mary, who has the soulful expression of a young Madonna, looks anything but like a thief—but Irving Cummings, the director explained she is a refined thief, the kind who steals ermine coats.

Jed Buell, manager of the West Lake Theater, is not often moved to express himself about motion pictures. He has so many previews there that it has to be a good one, indeed, to get him to talk. "The Patsy," starring Marion Davies, not only got him to talk, but to write. He sent the following telegram to Nicholas Schenck: "Previewed tonight Marion Davies in 'The Patsy.' You can be proud of this. One of the greatest pictures ever made. Full of laughs from beginning to end. Destined to be one of the outstanding box office attractions of the year. Audience ate it up tonight. Every exhibitor looking for pictures like this one. Congratulations on this knockout." Mr. Buell isn't the only one who is talking about "The Patsy." Charlie Chaplin said it is the best comedy of its kind that he had ever seen. "In fact," said Charlie, laughing, "I could be jealous, that's how good I think it is."

I don't see how Blanche Sweet can escape making a picture in England. Sailing with her and Marshall Neilan and Betty Bronson on the same boat will be Harry O. Hoyt, who goes to England to direct four productions for one of the British film concerns. His first, "A Cross-word Puzzle" by Sir Philip Gibbs, calls for a girl of Miss Sweet's temperament. In short, he would like very much to have Blanche agree to star in the picture. You never can tell what will happen on an ocean liner and before the Olympic touches Southampton, we may hear that Blanche has agreed to play the girl who wins a one hundred pound prize doing cross-word puzzles. With that amount of money she decides to step out and see life.

The eyes of Hollywood are turned expectantly on "Lonesome," Paul Fejos' first picture since his much talked of "The Last Moment." Mr. Fejos in "The Last Moment" pictures the last thoughts of a drowning man, but in "Lonesome," based on a story by Nan Page, he has a dramatic tale less eccentric but unusual enough to be interesting. Barbara Kent has been signed to play the lead, an opportunity for the girl who was elected a baby Wampas star of 1928.

Shakespeare Vies With Modern Comedy

"The Road to Rome," a modern comedy by Robert E. Sherwood, editor of Life, is to be the attraction in the Alvin next week. The cast, headed by Grace George, includes McKay Morris. There will be the usual matinees.

There are few plays of Shakespeare that give to Robert B. Mantell opportunities equal to those of "Macbeth," which is included in the repertoire that he and Genevieve Hamper, his co-star, will present in the Nixon next week.

Howard Thurston, the Magician, will play a special matinee on Friday of next week, which will be his third and final week in the Pitt. The proceeds of this matinee will be given to the destitute families of the striking coal miners. Thurston will play a matinee tomorrow.

Rae Samuels is to be the vaudeville headliner in the Davis next week. The screen feature is "Silk Legs," with Madge Bellamy.

DANCER IS FEATURED IN FLOTILLA CLUB

Rosita Granada, cinema dancer makes her final appearances in the Flotilla Club tonight and Saturday night in association with DeCarlo. On the screen, Miss Granada was co-starred with Charles Farrell in "The Dancer", and she appeared in "The Return of Boston Blackie" and with Dolores Del Rio in "The Loves of Carmen". Etal Covato and his orchestra continue to play nightly for the dancers and diners at the Flotilla Club. The Flotilla Club Revue is directed by Babe Falvo, Pittsburgh, entertainer.

PITTSBURGH'S MOST SPACIOUS DOWNSTAIRS STORE

Aisles are wide...unusually so...floors are deep ...supporting columns are slender...and hardly noticeable on the upper... the beautiful court extends through both floors and makes pardonable the impression that one is not in a below-street-level store...all this devised by layout experts and architects who are specialists in store construction...all this to give Pittsburgh an unhampered freedom in shopping such as it has never before had...in Pittsburgh's Newest Two-Floor Downstairs Store.

GIMBEL BROTHERS

In the matter of ventilation, Gimbels Downstairs Store has solved one of the most difficult problems encountered in building of this character. Air-which is cooled in Summer and warmed in Winter-is filtered by being forced through a wire screen that is chemically treated; vitiated by a spray water device; then sent into every corner of both Downstairs floors through hundreds of ventilators near the ceilings. Near the base of many supporting columns are ventilators which perform the function of withdrawing foul air. Thus, the atmosphere is constantly fresh, sweet and pure-a real achievement.

ADMIRAL DEFENDS NAVY IN TALK

The United States Navy is ready for battle with whatever nation the next war comes, Rear Admiral William H. Standley, in charge of fleet training and a member of the Navy General Board, declared last night in an address before the tenth annual meeting of the Squirrel Hill Board of Trade in Morrowfield Hotel.

Admiral Standley, without calling them by name, answered criticisms of Admiral William B. Magruder and other "high naval officers," who in speech and print have criticised naval policies. He defended the Navy General Board which determines policies, he asserted, after seeking the opinion of officers throughout the naval service.

"This is the open season on admirals," he said in beginning, "and if you will pardon me I will read my address." He did.

Admiral Standley was introduced by James M. Magee, former congressman and member of the Naval Affairs Committee of Congress. During his stay in Pittsburgh he was a house guest at the Magee home.

The naval officer defended the policies of the navy which, he declared, represented the consensus and majority opinion of every officer with suggestions to make. He denied that the navy seeks to curtail aviation and pointed out operations of airplanes in the fleets of the United States as the only operations of their kind in the world to sustain this declaration. He defended the use of surplus navy yards and supply depots as being equivalent to a city's fire department, only needed in time of fire. The navy is not needed in peacetime, he asserted, but in time of war there must be officers to train men and navy yards capable of quickly commissioning many war vessels not ordinarily in service.

The banquet was attended by many high city and county officials, several of whom paid tribute to the civic pride and accomplishments of Squirrel Hill as exemplified in the work of the Board of Trade.

W. L. Mellon, Republican state chairman and a member of the Board of Trade spoke on the spirit of the men who founded the organization and launched its campaign of civic progress. Other speakers included President of Council James F. Malone, Marcus Aaron, president of the Board of Public Education, Frank L. Duggan, president of the Board of Trade and Edwin O. Tabor, toastmaster. Telegrams from Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon and United States Senator David A. Reed were read, expressing their regret at being unable to attend. Other notables present included County Treasurer Samuel D. Foster, Director of Public Safety and Mrs. James M. Clark, and Councilmen W. Y. English and Robert J. Alderdice. More than 500 attended the banquet.

The Colonial Idea

— finds eloquent expression in the ensemble selected from the McCreery display and illustrated here.

The hand-carved, hair-stuffed sofa is a Duncan Phyfe design, with all the grace and refinement common to the works of that famous American cabineteer.

The John Hancock secretary and the John Alden ladder-back chair are pieces almost indispensable in the true early American scheme.

The spacious wing chair, with its down-filled cushion, combines the modern idea of luxurious comfort with authenticity of design.

A quaint drop-leaf table and a Chippendale chair complete the setting with a final gesture of simplicity and charm.

LINDY WINGING WAY OVER JUNGLE TO BOGOTA

BRAVES PERILS IN 400-MILE FLIGHT

By International News Service.

CARTAGENA, Colombia, Jan. 27.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh hopped off at 8:59 a. m. today for Bogota, the second stop on his South American itinerary.

A crowd at the flying field gave him a rousing ovation as the Spirit of St. Louis rose, circled the field and then sped southward.

Col. Lindbergh's route to Bogota was over a dangerous country with alternating mountains and swamps all covered with a dense jungle growth. Thick misty fogs almost always cover the lowlands, sometimes rising to the peaks of the highest mountains. However, Lindbergh's task was made easier by the fact that he had only to hold to a straight line southward.

The distance from Cartagena to Bogota is exactly 400 miles in a straight airline.

Bogota lies in the mountains with lofty ranges surrounding the city, making it difficult for a flier to approach.

Before leaving here Lindbergh made a careful survey of the weather charts and said he would have to take into consideration the cloud banks which usually hang almost to the peaks of the mountains surrounding the capital.

KICKED BY HORSE, FARMER, 73, DIES

ROCKWOOD, Pa., Jan. 27.—Kicked on the head by a horse while watering his stock, John F. Younkin, 73, farmer of Upper Turkeyfoot township, died yesterday without regaining consciousness.

"For Sale" Finis To S-4 Sailor's Home Dream

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—A "For Sale" sign on a tiny suburban plot in Cheverly, Md., stands today as a tombstone to lovers' dreams which were snuffed out in the sinking off Provincetown harbor eight weeks ago of the submarine S-4.

The story was revealed today when Miss Marian De Fone, fiancee of Machinist's Mate Pedar Haalard, who went down with the ill-fated submersible, consented to the sale of the lot.

On his last visit to Washington, in November, Haalard selected the site after Miss De Fone had set the wedding date for early summer.

ARMED BANDITS GET $30 LOOT

Threatening death if followed, two armed Negro bandits held up the grocery store of Myer Lieber yesterday, and took $30 from the cash register and a small amount of cash from Joseph Lieber, a son.

The men entered the store and forced father and son to stand by while they looted the store.

Ancient Egypt, pictured in full colors by an artist-archaeologist, will interest and puzzle you. See it in Sunday's Sun-Telegraph.

Mysterious Substance in Beef Liver Astonishes Modern Physicians

Turns Thin, Watery Blood Into Rich, Red Blood and Weak, Anemic People Grow Strong and Energetic.

Beefs and calves liver—the kind you buy at any butcher shop—is just chock-full of some "mysterious substance" that is proving of vast benefit to anemic people.

Just what this substance is—is still a mystery to men of science.

Some physicians go so far as to say that this "mysterious substance" or vital element will cure pernicious anemia, but at any rate, it is acknowledged by even the most conservative doctors that it has turned into rich red blood the thin, watery blood of thousands of weak, anemic men, women and children and by so doing has restored most of them to normal health.

So many thousands of New York's sickly anemic people are on a diet of liver, by the advice of hundreds of physicians, that the price of liver had advanced in that city.

But people can't eat liver all the time so now one of New York's well known laboratories has finally succeeded in extracting this health building vital principle or "mysterious substance" (as doctors call it) from fresh beefs liver and hundreds of physicians have turned eagerly to it and are now prescribing it.

The name of the new product that is doing so much for weak, anemic people is Hemo-Liver and it can now be obtained from any druggist who keeps abreast of the times.

A big 12-ounce bottle lasts eight days and one tablespoonful is a dose and as one Doctor remarked "You'll have to eat a lot of liver before you get as much of the red blood making mysterious substance as you get in one tablespoonful of Hemo-Liver."

Men and women who are suffering from lowered vitality, general weakness, overwork, nervous breakdown or anemia can put their faith in Hemo-Liver. For feeble old people, girls 13 to 18 and in convalescence it won't fail. It strengthens the nerves, increases the red blood cells, promotes health and rebuilds energy so quickly that often physicians are astonished.

How a man may look when his blood is thin and weak — and the change that takes place when the blood is rich and red.

Why not get a big bottle of Hemo-Liver today — eight days' treatment—and if after you have taken one bottle you don't say Hemo-Liver is the greatest health builder you ever heard of—get your money back. You can get Hemo-Liver at all May Drug Stores.

FEAR IBANEZ DYING

EXILED NOVELIST SERIOUSLY ILL

MENTONE, France, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Vicente Blasco Ibanez, noted Spanish author, is seriously ill at his villa here. He is suffering from a grave complication of bronchio-pneumonia and diabetes.

The condition of the writer, who is now in exile from his native land because of his opposition to the present political regime, is regarded as critical and several physicians have been called to his bedside.

Ibanez has been active in two fields, politics and literature. His most widely known works are "Blood and Sand," published in 1915, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," 1916, and "Mare Nostrum." All three of these books were published in translation in the United States and were made into motion pictures.

Politically, Ibanez is a Republican, early in life becoming an impassioned political agitator and suffering exile and frequent imprisonment for his opinion. He was returned to Parliament on eight occasions by his native city.

His opposition to the present regime in Spain, particularly direct criticism of the dictator, Primo de Rivera, caused him to go into virtual exile in France.

Ibanez was born at Valencia, January 29, 1867.

BLIND MAN SUES OIL COMPANY

Lawrence Norton, 58, of Arch street, a blind man, has entered suit in Common Pleas Court against the Puritan Oil and Gas Company, 1211 Fulton street, North Side, asking $50,000 damages for injuries received January 31, 1926, when he fell on the sidewalk in front of the defendant's place of business.

Norton had originally sued the city, in the same case.

His trial, started Tuesday, was halted suddenly when a witness for the plaintiff admitted to Judge George V. Moore that money had been offered him to change his story or leave town. The case was continued and the jury withdrawn. Norton lost his eyesight 20 years ago in fighting forest fires in Montana.

PASTOR, 84, HONORED AT CHURCH FAREWELL

A farewell party was held last night at the Evangelical Protestant Church, West End, for the Rev. Conrad Borchers, 84, of Greendale avenue, Edgewood, who has retired from active service as a minister after a pastorate of 58 years. He had been minister at the local church for seven years, and previous to that had served at Albany and Evansville, Ind.; Baltimore and Cumberland, Md., and Zelienople.

FRANCIES SHUNS CASH

SPURNS $9,000 BAIL MONEY INTEREST

County Treasurer John Francies today asked Common Pleas Court to decide the ownership of approximately $8,000, the interest on cash bail deposited in the office of the clerk of courts during the four years he held that position.

The action was the first of its kind ever taken in Allegheny county. The practice of former clerks of court, upon leaving office, has been to take the interest money with them.

The court was asked to decide whether the money belonged to the county or to those who had deposited the cash bonds.

When the Francies petition was presented by former Attorney General George E. Alter, Judge James R. Drew said: "This is a very commendable action. I believe it is the first case on record where a county official has come into court to find how to get rid of money."

THOUSANDS AFFECTED

The decision may affect the disposition not only of the $8,000 being held by Francies, but of thousands of dollars collected in interest by former clerks of courts. At the office of Clerk of Courts S. J. Topley today it was said that there is no record of the interest collected in other administrations. This phase is mentioned in the Francies petition, which points out that the decision "would declare the law relating to such situations for the guidance of your petitioner as well as of other persons who may have held or who now hold said office in this Commonwealth."

During the Francies term more than 500 persons deposited cash bonds and, in the event of a distribution, would receive amounts ranging from trifling to substantial sums. Among those who would profit are Attorney George J. Shaffer, $4047.28; J. C. Peterson, $89.06; Veronica Stahura, $107.29; S. H. Hanaseweig, $158.15, and S. M. Smith, $69.67.

CLOTHES AFIRE, LEAPS INTO BED

In the heat of the moment last night, Alex Staving, 58, watchman in a building at 3159 Ridge avenue, devised an unusual remedy for an unusual situation. The building is one of those damaged in the recent gas tank blast.

The "heat" came into the picture when Staving got his coals mixed and started to fill a hot water bottle with gasoline. After the inevitable blast, which made a human torch out of Staving, the coal-headed watchman smothered the flames which enveloped him by crawling into bed and rolling himself in a heavy blanket. Firemen extinguished the fire in the building after damage estimated at $200 had occurred.

RECORD CROWDS CONTINUE AT BIG AUTO SHOW

ACCESSORY MEN KEPT BUSY

Record crowds continue to throng Motor Square Garden daily for the annual automobile show, despite unfavorable weather, officers of the Pittsburgh Automobile Dealers' Association, under whose auspices the exhibit is being staged, report.

The new 1928 motor cars in their glistening coats of bright paints and chromium and nickel trim have proved the magnet that is drawing all Pittsburgh and the citizenry of surrounding environs within the doors of the big East Liberty structure.

The modern automobile is not alone holding the interest of these thousands of show visitors, for the accessory industry has gathered together on the sub-floor hundreds of devices and motoring aids that are forever sought by those who are continually seeking aids to better performance and increased comfort.

On the sub-floor one learns, as he listens to the business-like attendants, that all oils and greases are not lubricants. Here we also learn the virtues and possibilities of piston rings and how they must be constructed to perform efficiently. Piston and cylinder block displays catch the eyes of the eager auto fans and they pause to hear explained the qualities of certain metals, reboring and reconstruction methods.

Other displays give information on paints, custom built bodies, glass, doors, springs, shock absorbing devices, ignition and lighting units and parts and innumerable accessories.

In addition to the new cars and the accessories, a musical program vies for favor. Tonight the Kiwanis Quartet, composed of Vincent Kroen, Roy strayer, Max Kroen and Russell Mitchell, Jr., with Anuerin Butzvombe as accompanist; Emma and Kathrine Wallisch and two orchestral groups under the direction of Charles Marsh, will be heard. Both programs will be radiocast through WCAE. The show, which closes Saturday night, is open daily from 10:30 a. m. to 10:30 p. m.

"BUYER" SKIPS WITH AUTO

The Bashr Brothers' Automobile Company of Walnut street, McKeesport, lost a high-priced sedan when a man who said he was Q. H. Allen of Shaw avenue, after having the car demonstrated to him, was granted permission to take it home for his wife's approval. Allen and the car have disappeared. His address was reported fictitious to police. The car was equipped with dealer's license plates.

S. H. CHURCH ON HONOR ROLL

Samuel Harden Church, vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, will be placed on the "Roll of duty February 1, according to an announcement made by the board of directors of the company in Philadelphia.

Church entered the service of the railroad as a messenger in 1875. In 1911 he was appointed secretary to the lines west of Pittsburgh and seven years later was appointed assistant secretary of the road. He was appointed vice president last year.

THREE SEEK FREEDOM THROUGH DIVORCE COURT

Libels in divorce have been filed in Common Pleas Court as follows:

Deborah S. Berry, 686 Middle avenue, against Harry S. Berry, 6429 Lyric avenue, cruel and barbarous treatment; Loretta Pfister, 233 Jucunda street, against Elmer G. Pfister, 39 Sylvania avenue, cruel and barbarous treatment, and Mildred H. Dray, 17 Arlington avenue, against Thomas E. Dray, Buffalo, New York, cruel and barbarous treatment.

MINE BUILDING BURNED

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Jan. 27.—The generator house and generator of the Dock Hollow Coal Company, two miles north of Freeport, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin at 1:30 o'clock early yesterday. The mine, it is said, has been operating non-union. The damage amounted to $6,500.

WEST PENN MEN PROMOTED

RIDGWAY, Pa., Jan. 27.—At a meeting of the superintendents of the West Penn Power Company held in Ridgway yesterday Phil H. Powers, general manager of the Keystone Division for a number of years, was promoted to commercial manager of the West Penn Power Company, with headquarters at Pittsburgh. He will take over his new position March 1. Mr. Powers also will have charge of the Keystone Division as heretofore. Kemp G. Fuller, formerly assistant to the president, will become division manager of the Keystone Division. This will become effective about March 15. He has been with the company for seven years and has had experience in many departments.

ARE YOU a "TOXIC"

60 at 40

Nothing is more tragic than to be old before your time. Yet thousands of men and women are branded as "old" in the prime of life simply as a result of a state of health. Living at the pace we do today we put too great a strain upon our vital organs, especially the liver. The liver becoming "limp" or sluggish, fails to cleanse the blood of the poisons formed in food waste. Then a toxic condition of the whole system with heart and blood vessels affected and premature old age. The liver occasionally needs a little help and there's nothing better for this, as doctors agree, than ox gall. Ox gall is a remarkable vegetal stimulant for the human liver, promoting its normal active functioning. Thonet tablets are genuine ox gall in dainty and tasteless form, each tablet representing 10 drops of pure ox gall. To be sure of getting the genuine ox gall, be sure of getting Thonet. They cost less than 2c each of good druggists, and a few make a wonderful difference.

IT DID WONDERS FOR LOCAL MAN

Ten Herbs Ended Indigestion and Improved Him in Every Respect.

"I can say with absolute honesty that Ten Herbs did wonders for me," was the statement of Mr. David L. Johnson, 5532 Graham street, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at the May's Main Store, 529 Liberty avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine. "Several years ago I began to have indigestion," continued Mr. Johnson, who is a draughtsman for the Westinghouse Electric Co. "Finally it got so bad that my food would ferment and form gas.

"I had bilious attacks and black spots would appear before my eyes. I would get so dizzy that I would have to catch hold of something to keep from falling. My liver and kidneys were not working right, and there were pains across my back. I was so weak and worn-out that just standing on my feet would tire me out. I was constipated, and my nerves were on edge. I never could get proper sleep or rest.

"It seems as though Ten Herbs benefited my whole system. I can eat heartily and food digests as it should—there is no gas or bloating after a meal. I have been relieved of constipation, and my liver and kidneys are more active. I have no more pains in my back, or spots before my eyes. Dizzy spells and bilious attacks are gone, and I have a great deal more energy and ambition. My nerves are quiet, and I sleep the whole night through. Ten Herbs gave my entire system a thorough cleansing, and I feel better in every respect."

Profit by Mr. Johnson's experience. Let this new compound benefit and invigorate your stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It has a cleansing, soothing, correcting effect on the system in general.

The Ten Herbs Man is at the May's Main Store, 529 Liberty avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

CITE 3 IN ALIEN SMUGGLING

Perry Hood and John Kobacs of Detroit and Mrs. Anna Canzer of Sharpsville, Mercer county, were indicted by the Federal grand jury on a charge of conspiracy to smuggle Gabor Barath, an Austrian, from Windsor, Canada, to Sharpsville. The woman, according to the bill, paid Hood $80 for delivering Barath across the border.

ART AWARD JURY ARRIVES TOMORROW

Going directly to Carnegie Institute, where they will spend the day judging the canvases submitted for the eighteenth annual exhibition of the Associated Artists of Pittsburgh, Hayley Lever, of New York; George Harding, of Philadelphia, and James R. Hopkins, of Ohio, comprising the jury of award for this exhibit, arrive early tomorrow. They will be met by a committee from the Associated Artists, led by Christian J. Walter, president.

One hundred persons will attend a dinner to be given for the jury at 6:30 p. m. tomorrow in Webster Hall.

BATTLES POSSE AFTER KILLING STORE CLERK

MOUNTAINEER AMUCK IN FAYETTE

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Jan. 27.—Walking into Joe York's general store in Mt. Braddock last night, John Leslie Wolford, 35, mountaineer, is alleged to have called Ed Hughes, 25, clerk into a back room and shot him fatally.

Escaping through a crowd of customers, Wolford eluded a posse of state police, constables, detectives and police and returned to his home, where he discarded his revolver, took a rifle, then doubled back to Mt. Braddock and entering the home of Robert Jordan opened fire.

In the small room in the Jordan house were two women and five children when the battle began. Shots flew and while the battle raged police, who had been tipped off by Mrs. Wolford, entered. Wolford was overpowered and arrested. None was injured. Taken to the county jail, Wolford said he had shot Hughes because Hughes had been too friendly with Mrs. Wolford. He declined to say why he shot at Jordan.

When customers in the store found Hughes he was wedged between sacks of grain. He died within a few minutes.

Stormy Sea Saves Lauder 2 Days Hotel Bill

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—"Well," said Sir Harry Lauder philosophically when he arrived aboard the Aquitania, delayed by the storm, "I've saved two days' hotel bill, anyway."

Sir Harry was greeted by Sir Thomas Lipton, an old friend.

"I'm making my fifth annual farewell tour," the Scotch comedian confided to his friend and the reporters.

This is the first visit to the United States since the death of his wife, but Sir Harry explained:

"I have left my grief behind; I want only to make people laugh."

MINERS' BENEFIT RAISES $4,000

It looked as though everybody in East Liberty was in Sheriden Square Theater last night to see the stage folk playing this week in Pittsburgh perform for the benefit of suffering miners' families.

Though they received not a nickel they gave a wonderful performance. From the great and only Thurston and his bag of magic to Ethel Waters and her band of high-stepping and jazz artists, not to overlook the adorable little Chita and company, who quite captivated her audience.

Total ticket sales were in excess of $2,500. A collection increased the receipts to $2,696.72 and two car checks, while Burgess John J. Cavanaugh of Homestead borough pledged $500 additional to be credited to the fund. Other pledges will increase the total of the benefit to more than $4,000, it was expected.

For more than three hours actors in 19 sketches played for art and the satisfaction of helping unfortunates. They kept the crowd in an uproar of laughter and applause. Even their fellows behind the scenes sent echoes of applause hurtling back into the jammed theater. Thurston saw his first show in years from the wings.

It strained even good-natured folk to mingle in the jam back-stage with enough actors for a double-bill at the Hippodrome struggling to get in line on the small stage of the Sheridan Square Theater. But everybody was good-natured.

Fannie Hurst, the novelist, in Pittsburgh to study the coal strike for the Sun-Telegraph, came back stage and mingled for a while with the folk from the land of make-believe. She posed for a photograph with Thurston, to go into his book of celebrities, compiled over a period of 30 years. And while she waited for the camera as the actors crowded about, the magician drew from her muff a bottle of what looked like prohibited liquid, but smelled like tea.

The theater was jammed from the orchestra pit to the topmost row in the balcony with hundreds standing. All seats were sold an hour before the performance began. The acts, which donated their services for the relief of suffering miners and their families, were:

Grand Theater Orchestra with Bernice and Pansy and Gould and Bernard; Harris and Vaugh, Sherry, Mattison and Andrea Sisters, Barr and Lamar, Chita and Her Pals, Hayes and Cody, Ethel Watters and company, Lewis and Dody, Marguerite and Guiran, Walter Woolf, Gladys Baxter and Alexandra Dagmar, Howard Thurston, Emil Boreo, Oliver and O'Neill, Six Tivoli Girls, Walter Brower, Joe Rae's California Nighthawks, Six Jolly Jesters, Four Harmonists and Earl and Ryal Revue. Bob Hall was master of ceremonies.

RHEUMATISM, NEURITIS, PAIN

"Heet" Relieves Instantly

With applicator attached to cork, just brush "Heet" over the pain area, whether in hands, elbows, shoulders, feet, knees, legs, back, neck or body. Instantly, you feel this harmless, glorious, penetrating heat draw the pain, soreness and stiffness right out of the aching or swollen joint, muscle or nerve. Besides, "Heet" scatters the congestion and establishes a cure.

"Heet" contains two soothing, penetrating ingredients, too expensive to use in ordinary liniments or analgesics. "Heet" is a clean, pleasant liquid; doesn't stain, blister or irritate the skin and costs only 60 cents at any drug store.

2 WOMEN TELL OF TRAPPING ARSON GANG

Testimony of an arson plot to destroy their business places and of how the conspirators were trapped was given by Mrs. Carrie M. Deverts, who conducted a millinery store at 435 East Ohio street, North Side, and Miss Mabel Yocum, proprietor of a rooming house in Pressly street, North Side, in the trial of Harry Frank of Webster avenue, and Meyer Letwin of Harvard street, before Visiting Judge J. Frank Graff of Kittanning on charges of conspiracy and arson.

Samuel Friedman of Beechwood boulevard proposed the burning of their places and sent Frank to them, both women testified. Mrs. Deverts arranged with Fire Marshal Thomas Parr to set a trap, doubled her insurance, and was about to deliver a check for $300, the price for the work, when Frank and Letwin were captured in her store Sunday afternoon, July 31, preparing to start the fire, according to her testimony.

With Friedman and Simon Rosenthal, who also pleaded guilty, the defendants signed statements admitting the charges, according to District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner.

The defense offered testimony today, the prosecution resting just before adjournment yesterday after Friedman and Rosenthal testified as commonwealth witnesses and District Attorney Gardner read to the jury the statements of Letwin and Frank.

Attorney Louis Little, outlining the defense, stated that the errand of Letwin and Frank to Mrs. Deverts was concerned with the purchase of her millinery business.

INDICT CHINESE IN DOPE CASE

Yew Hong Cheung, alias Yee Lee, a Chinese merchant at 519 Third avenue, was indicted by the Federal grand jury on a charge of concealing smoking opium unlawfully imported into the United States. Two days before Christmas City Detective Frank Ferris received a package containing three silk handkerchiefs and four ounces of smoking opium from a Chinese who told him it had been sent from the store of Cheung. Cheung was arrested and at a hearing before the United States commissioner his counsel, Louis Little, contended the storekeeper had been "framed" by some of his countrymen.

BEETHOVEN FEATURED IN DAMROSCH PROGRAM

Beethoven's "Eroica" symphony is the major work to be given by Walter Damrosch and his New York Symphony Orchestra at Syria Mosque tonight, and Brahm's Symphony No. 2 will be heard at the matinee tomorrow. The orchestra is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary this season, and special features are being given. Tonight Mr. Damrosch will include by request "La Nuit Ensorcelee," by Chopin-Aubert, and Pierne's "Entrance of the Little Fauns." Other works include Wagner's Bacchanale from "Tannhauser," Debussy's "Afternoon of a Faun," and Chabrier's "Spanish Rhapsody."

How One Thin Woman Gained 11 Pounds

Read This Letter

This is from Mrs. W. E. Looney—I just must tell you that McCoy's Tablets are the finest things I have ever tried. I have always been thin and never found anything to do me so much good. I was disappointed in the beginning.

I weighed 104 when I began—now I weigh 115½. I praise them. I can't be without them. My limbs are picking up fine. I am singing their praises to everyone I see. I didn't have any faith in them to start.

Signed (Mrs. W. E. Looney)
Tennessee.
Oct. 16th, 1927.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking four 60-cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or two $1 boxes any thin, under-weight man or woman doesn't gain at least five pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at May's Drug Stores or any drug store in America.

FORT TOTTEN BUILDINGS IN BAD SHAPE

By Universal Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 27—The Citizens' Committee on Army Housing, headed by Congressman Loring M. Black, Jr., inspecting Fort Totten, the coast artillery post near Whitestone, Long Island, found this post to be not so old as some of the other Army posts located within the metropolitan area. Most of the buildings are permanent brick structures, the oldest dating not much further back than 1894.

Despite the permanent nature of the buildings, the almost total absence of war-time shacks as living quarters for soldiers, and the importance of the place as a coast defense fort, the committee found, nevertheless, many of the buildings to be in a deplorable state of neglect, and, as a consequence, found much to criticise with respect to their lack of upkeep. This condition, the visitors found, was due entirely to insufficient funds allowed for repairs and systematic maintenance.

The investigators were received by Brig. Gen. Stuart Heintzelman, post commander, who recently returned from Hawaii, and who extended the usual courtesies. These began with a dinner in the officers' mess, followed by an inspection trip through the buildings and grounds under escort of Capt. G. C. McFarland, Lieut. J. H. Smith, post adjutant, and Lieut. W. W. Christian, Gen. Heintzelman's aid. The strength of the garrison is approximately 900 men all of the coast artillery, including a medical, signal and other detachments.

QUARTERS SHORTAGE

The committee found the chief difficulty at Fort Totten to be housing shortage. As a result of this condition and due to the existence of permanent brick barracks for the enlisted men, the officers and non-commissioned officers at this post fare relatively the worst, reversing the usual condition.

Of the 40 officers at the post only 75 per cent are provided with quarters within the reservation and these live in "cut up" houses made into first and second floor apartments. Formerly each of these was occupied by one officer and his family. Most of this "converting" work has been done with soldier labor. Much of the work bears the stamp of having been done by amateur building construction workers.

To make room the bachelor officers' building has been converted into quarters for married officers. The bachelors have been relegated to the servants' quarters in dingy attic rooms with low windows and sloping ceilings. Of the 50 odd non coms and warrant officers at the post, entitled to quarters, only half that number are housed and they are compelled to live in quarters that are regarded as temporary and "unlivable."

BARRACKS NEED REPAIRS

A feature at Fort Totten is an unusually large, light and airy brick barracks structure. The committee found it to be greatly in need of repairs. Much new plumbing, kitchen equipment, cooking ranges and hot water tanks would be required, the committee found, to place the building in a proper condition.

One of the squad rooms had a big break in the ceiling from rain seeping down from a leaking roof. In the kitchen the mess sergeant pointed to worn out, broken ranges interfering with the efficiency of his cooks. There was only one small water boiler for 130 men of the company. The heating system of the buildings was originally designed for the use of anthracite coal. Now, the committee was told, the post gets "only soft dirt and coal dust." The walls and floors are decaying from rusty pipes and outworn, leaky plumbing.

The committee found the outside woodwork, stairs and porches on nearly all the brick buildings in a decaying and crumbling condition. The gutters are full of holes, beyond hope of adequate repair, and several of the buildings need new roofs to keep out rain and cold.

(Tomorrow's article will review work at Fort Slocum.)

EX-BRIDGEVILLE CHIEF INDICTED

"Lindy" Enters "On to New York" Race; Is Forced Out

Delays Quickly End Cross Continent Flight—He Enters U. S. Mail Service

Yesterday in the chapter of "We" published in the Sun-Telegraph Col. Lindbergh gave a thrilling account of his experiences as a performer in a flying circus. Wing-walking, the breakaway, plane change and other hair-raising stunts were described. He also told of the ticklish business of finding landing places that the barnstormer has to negotiate.

Tribute to Patriotic Fliers

By COL. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH.

CHAPTER XX.

THE International Air Races were to be held, that year, at New York during the first part of October and, since our fair contracts were over by the last of September, we decided to enter in the "On to New York" competition, which was for civilian planes only, and was decided by points given for distance, speed, number of passengers carried, and the size of the engine used.

We had our motor overhauled at Denver and expected to fly from there to San Francisco for the start. Some of the repair parts for the engine were delayed and we were several days late in leaving Denver. Even then it was only through night work and leaving a number of things undone that we got away. A 50-gallon center section gasoline tank had been installed which, in addition to the regular fuselage tank, gave us a capacity of 107 gallons.

We installed the engine one night and idled it for several hours before daybreak in order to work in the bearings; then we took off for San Francisco.

Our first stop was at Rawlins, Wyo., where the highest field on the transcontinental air mail route is located. We refilled at Rawlins and made Evanston that night.

"Fire," "Fire"

At Evanston we were starting the engine preparatory to taxiing over and tying down for the night, when our carburetor caught fire. In the haste to get started we had neither put a fire screen on the intake nor a drain pipe down from the bowl.

The engine was covered with oil and the gasoline overflowing from the bowl carried the flames down around it. Soon the entire nose of the ship was ablaze and, although we shoveled earth over the motor, it appeared that the wings would soon catch fire. If the fabric began to burn, the ship was gone. I had just finished removing all loose equipment from the cockpit when a small hand extinguisher arrived, and with its aid the fire was soon put out.

All of the ignition wire insulation was burned off, but otherwise very little damage had been done.

We were delayed 24 hours rewiring the engine and cleaning out the dirt shoveled on in the attempt to put out the fire.

After Rawlins we stopped at Salt Lake City and from there we flew over the Great Salt Lake Desert to Battle Mountain, Nev., where we spent the night.

We took off from Battle Mountain with full gas tanks and, after following the passes until part of the fuel was consumed and the load correspondingly lightened, we passed over the Sierra Nevada range at 8,500 feet, and landed at Oakland, Cal. The same evening, without refilling, we flew over San Francisco Bay to Crissey Field.

Off for New York

The following day we took off from Crissey Field on the start of our race to New York. One of the rules of the contest was that each plane should carry a log with the starting point and a number of passengers carried attested to by two witnesses.

By the time we had made out the log and serviced our plane, it was afternoon, and darkness overtook us at Lovelocks, Nev.

The next night was spent in Rawlins, Wyo., after a stop at Salt Lake City for fuel.

We arrived in Rawlins with a valve blowing badly and were delayed a day in pulling the bank and grinding in another valve.

We were far behind our schedule, due to the late start from Denver, the delay at Evanston, and again at Rawlings; but without further trouble we would still be able to reach New York on time. Another valve began blowing, however, soon after leaving Rawlins, and when we took off from our next stop at Sidney, Nebraska, the motor had lost a number of revolutions.

Out of the Race

We flew to Lincoln from Sidney and after taking the short remaining time into consideration, we decided to abandon the race and start barnstorming.

We overhauled the engine at Lincoln and worked over towards St. Louis, where we arrived about the end of October.

At St. Louis we decided to tie up for the winter and I began instructing students for the Robertson Aircraft Corporation on OX-5 Standards. The corporation had been awarded the air mail contract, but actual operation was not to start until the next spring, so during the winter months I spent my time instructing and test flying in their commercial service.

For the first time in my flying career I was to be in one place longer than a few months, so in November, 1925, I enlisted in the One Hundred and Tenth Observation Squadron of the Thirty-fifth Division Missouri National Guard, and was commissioned a first lieutenant soon afterward.

The squadron was stationed on Lambert Field. Every Sunday was spent in flying. We had a number of J.N. training planes and one T.W.-3, which was the commanding officer's personal ship.

The organization was composed mainly of pilots, who had flown during the war, but after the armistice had gone back to civilian life. Their only method of keeping in training was by flying National Guard planes in their spare moments and attending camp two weeks each year.

Patriotism of Air Men

Two nights and one day each week were devoted to military service by these officers and the enlisted men under them. Their pay was small and most of them lost more from neglect of their business than they received for their military services. The remuneration was hardly considered. However, they joined the guard for two reasons: First, because of the opportunity it offered to keep in flying training; and second, because they considered it a patriotic duty to keep fit for immediate service in case of national emergency.

Appropriations were not large and often insufficient, but although at times it required part of the squadron's pay checks, the ships were kept in the air.

The National Guard squadrons offer an excellent opportunity for young men to get a start in aviation. Instruction is given each week, covering practically every branch of military aeronautics, and practical flying experience is obtained both in the air and on the ground under actual operating conditions.

Each year a few members of the squadron are sent to the Army schools at San Antonio for flying training, and upon returning these men take their places in the commissioned personnel of the organization.

In the Mail Service

The inauguration of our air mail service was to take place on April 15, and as spring drew near we were kept busy making preliminary preparations. The De Havilands were to be completed and tested; a ground organization built up; the terminal airports decided upon, and facilities for taking on and discharging the mail arranged for, in addition to the untold detail arrangements which go to make up the organization of a successful airline.

Contract air mail routes are located by the Postoffice Department and are so arranged that the mail service can be improved by use of air transportation over other means of communication.

The route is opened for bids and the contract awarded to the lowest bidder who is responsible and in a position successfully to carry on operations.

The contractor can bid any amount up to $3 per pound of mail and is paid by the pound for the actual amount carried over his route.

One route, between St. Louis and Chicago, was operated on a schedule which saved one business day over train service to New York. A letter mailed in St. Louis before 3:30 p. m. was rushed to Lambert Field by a fast mail truck, transferred to the plane which was waiting with engine turning over, landed on the air mail field at Maywood, Ill., at 7:15, transferred to one of the Chicago-New York overnight planes, retransferred at Cleveland, O., and was in the postoffice in New York in time for the first morning delivery.

An answer could be mailed at New York in the evening and be delivered in St. Louis before noon on the following day. If sent through the ordinary mail it would not arrive until one day later.

The advantages of air transportation are most apparent over long distances. The air mail flies from New York to San Francisco in 36 hours, whereas a train requires nearly four days to make the same trip.

The United States, through the efforts of the Post Office and the Department of Commerce, is being covered with a network of air mail routes, and it is only a matter of the public using this service before nearly every city in the country will be served by airlines.

Tomorrow Col. Lindbergh will tell Sun-Telegraph readers of the perils air mail pilots face and about two of his forced jumps.

WILSON MAY BREAK STATE G. O. P. SENATE GRIP

CLUE FAILS SEARCHERS

ANNA MAE WEIS

Anna Mae Weis, 194 Nimich street, 14-year-old Westinghouse High School student, has been missing from her home since January 15. According to Mrs. Hilda Weis, mother of the girl, she received a letter last Monday written by her daughter, telling her to write Anna at 127 Carver street. In the letter, Anna asks her mother to "forget all about me." The people living at the Carver street address deny any knowledge of the whereabouts of the girl. The case was placed in the hands of the Missing Persons Bureau yesterday.

SENATE ACTION GIVES WILSON SEAT CHANCE

By International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—For the first time since the Civil War, a Pennsylvania Democrat today had a fighting chance to win a seat in the Senate.

He is William B. Wilson, war-time Secretary of Labor, who challenged the seat of Senator-elect William S. Vare, Republican. Wilson won a fighting chance when the Senate Elections Committee ordered a thorough investigation of the election fraud charges contained in the contest he filed against Vare.

To win, Wilson must prove that Vare engineered a "conspiracy" in the Pennsylvania election of 1926 for the purpose of "overturning the will of the people."

If Wilson should be seated, he would smash a straight Republican senatorial succession from Pennsylvania that has existed since before the Civil War. While every adjoining state—New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia and Ohio—have elected Democratic Senators, Pennsylvania has chosen only Republicans.

Vare now occupies a peculiar position. The result of the Wilson contest will have no effect on the fight to exclude him because of excessive expenditures in his primary. There were indications even that he would be excluded before the Senate reaches a decision on the contest. Each matter will be handled separately.

Vare's friends declared he was prepared for the exclusion and ready to become a candidate for re-election at the April primaries. In order to do so, under Pennsylvania's law, a senatorial vacancy must exist before February 23, and it is pointed out that no vacancy can exist until the Senate decides who won the election. So, unless the Senate should complete its investigation of the alleged election frauds, decide Wilson was legally defeated and then exclude Vare within the next 17 days, Vare cannot enter the April primaries. This will mean that neither he nor Wilson can seek vindication at the polls before November, 1930.

Wilson has challenged the returns in Allegheny, Philadelphia, Delaware, Lackawanna, Luzerne and Schuylkill counties, while Vare is expected to challenge the result in all the rest. The subcommittee, as a result, probably will have to recount every ballot cast in the state two years ago and that will be a four-month task.

The Senate's final decision probably will not be reached until its adjournment next June.

FREE OBJECTOR TO 'PHONE POLE

Joseph Manczel, 46, of 926 Madison avenue, who was arrested yesterday for the second time within four months, for objecting to having a pole placed in front of his property, was discharged today by Magistrate John J. Sweeney in the Allegheny Police Court.

It was testified that when Bell Telephone Company men dug a hole to set a pole yesterday, Manczel sat in it until police were called. While he was at the police station the pole was placed.

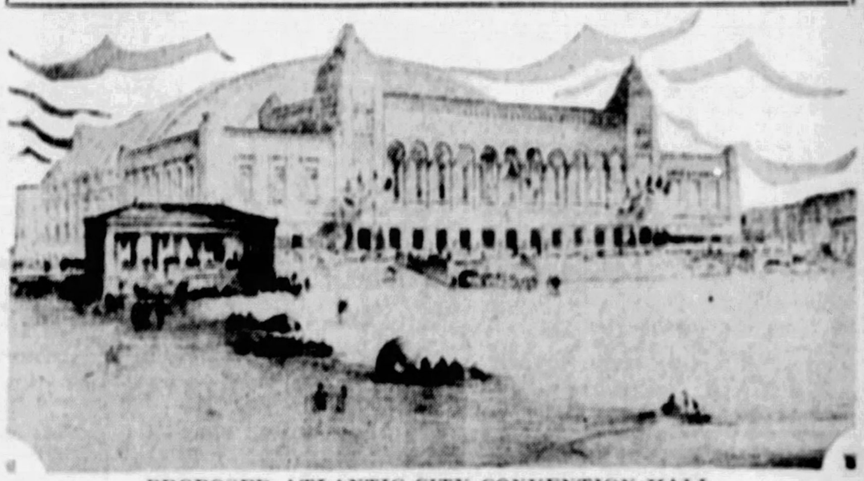
TRIES TO BLOCK SON'S ARREST, HELD ALSO

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 27.—When Constable Art Schubert tried to arrest young Michael Bellow, Jr., for a financial misunderstanding with Bellow's employer, the elder Mike pounced upon the officer, police said, and when the tussle ended Schubert had a broken leg. He then had the father arrested on assault charges.

TOWN HALL PLANS STUDIED



PROPOSED ATLANTIC CITY CONVENTION HALL

When the "Town Hall Dinner" is held February 6 at the William Penn Hotel by the Chamber of Commerce committee, plans for the Atlantic City, N. J., public auditorium will be among those displayed to the diners, who are expected to launch a concerted movement for a building somewhat similar for Pittsburgh. The above is the architect's accepted design for the convention hall at Atlantic City. This building, when completed, will be the largest of its kind in the United States. It is now under construction and will have a seating capacity of 40,000 persons.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

By HAVEY J. BOYLE

GRANT STREET has developed into one of the big thoroughfares of the city. At one time it was a shambles on a narrow, winding street. William A. Magee, former Mayor, changed its aspect some, what when the well-known hump running up Fifth avenue to Grant street was removed and the next great change came with the widening of the street from Second avenue to the Pennsylvania Station. The street is now a budding rival of Smithfield and Wood streets, on which are concentrated a good deal of downtown activities.

OAKLAND'S impressiveness is lost upon native Pittsburghers who take it as a matter of common fact. However, its significance is not lost upon the tri-state motorists who pay us a visit from time to time. The Pitt University, Carnegie Tech, the Carnegie Library and Museum, the Pitt stadium, Forbes Field, Memorial Hall and a cluster of magnificent apartment houses and clubs attract out-of-towners.

* * *

IT WAS with some chagrin that we bowed the other evening to a tyro in bridge. Of course, the opponent in question had all the luck, but that ought not to have overcome the fact that he violated most of the dogma of Dr. Milton Work. There ought to be some sort of law against men who violate most of the laws of bridge and still manage to win.

* * *

BOXERS still have the amateur spirit, in spite of what you hear about the big purses offered by Tex Rickard. In a Western Pennsylvania show the other night there were two boys who went into a professional ring to settle a dispute over a girl. They had fought two weeks previous on a lonesome road with honors even, and a promoter decided to put them on and pay them for their love-fight. It ended in a knockout. Regretfully, we cannot report that the girl in question was at the ringside ready to give her heart and hand to the conqueror.

IN FACT, to confuse further scenario writers and short story manufacturers the sequel was that the girl, feeling sorry for the boy who was flattened, snubbed the victor.

THERE was other drama on the same card. A heavyweight, a college boy from Allegheny College, took up ring work to help the family exchequer. He trained assiduously for three months. In one of his first bouts he was pitted against this particular town's official hard guy—a blacksmith who fights in the ring just because he likes to fight. For $20, the blacksmith, who is 34 years old and lives in New Castle, went into the ring against the college athlete and flattened him. Curiously enough, the blacksmith's name is Elmo.

MIKE KANE, who is the justice of the peace of Woodlawn, Pa., drove us through the Beaver Valley the other night. As we stepped into the car Mr. Kane said: "Lift up that blanket, please, and hand me that revolver. There have been lots of stick-ups along this road, lately, and I always feel safer with a gun ready for use." After looking at that gun and the gleam in Mike's eye our sympathies sort of switched to the hold-up men wherever they happened to be. At the same time there was a headline running through our mind: "Local Boy Shot by Mistake in Hold-up."

JOHNNY LAUER, a friend, has been taking lessons on a harp. It weighs 200 pounds and is one of the handsomest harps ever made. Invited to a party, Johnny lugged the 200-pound harp two miles on a cold night recently to the scene of the party. He said: "Good night," rather weakly, as he left about 2 a. m. to walk home with the harp. No one had asked him to play.

Lily Meets Drummond And Tells Him How Unhappy She Is

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

LILLY LEXINGTON, spoiled daughter of the CYRUS LEXINGTONS, is engaged to marry STALEY DRUMMOND, a rich bachelor much older than herself. She is fond of him, but realizes she does not really love him the day after she accepts him, when she becomes instantly and violently infatuated with a taxicab driver whom she sees down town when she goes to meet her chum, SUE CAIN. Forgetting all about Sue, she jumps into his cab and he drives her home. She learns that his name is PAT FRANCE and that he owns his own cab in a company headed by his friend, ROY JETTERSON. She marries Pat. Lily tried, and their domestic ship sailed smoother for a few months. One day Lily met SUE CAIN, an old friend, on the street. Sue invited her to a card party. Lily, without funds, went to a store and tried to charge some clothes to her father. She was informed her mother had left word that "Mrs. Patrick France could not charge things to Mr. Lexington." Staley Drummond pays her bill. She gets a wedding present of a washing machine from the France's. She expects a gift from Drummond.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

HER voice shook with excitement as she shut herself into the evil-smelling, dark telephone booth at the rear of the drug store and gave Staley's telephone number.

"Hello, you!" she said to him when he answered. "The postman just brought me your note—and I can meet you tomorrow afternoon, but why make it so late? Five o'clock is just the time when I ought to be at home starting to get supper. Couldn't we make it a bit earlier? Lunch time?"

It was so long since she had had lunch in a smart restaurant. So long since she had sat at a candlelighted table, with an attractive man gazing with admiration at her from his side of it, the way Staley Drummond always did. So long since a waiter had hovered over her to ask her if the mushrooms under glass, or the broiled lobster were just as they should be. So long since she had worn orchids. . . . Staley always brought her orchids.

"Can't we have lunch together?" he was asking her now. "That's a great idea. It will give us all afternoon to talk—and I particularly want to talk to you. Why, yes, let's meet at the same place at 1 instead of 5."

And so they planned it.

The next day was another day of icy rain and cold high winds. It was pouring when Lily opened her eyes to a world of darkness before dawn at 6 o'clock, and she dressed to the wild music of rain beating against her bedroom windows.

The kitchenette was cold, and it looked cheerless even when she had set the table and lit the gas stove for the coffee pot.

"Oh, my Aunt Elias, but how I'm going to hate getting up in the cold all winter long to cook this breakfast for you!" she groaned to Pat when he came out to eat his toast and grape fruit. "I didn't mind it so much on summer mornings when the sun was shining, but this business of getting up in the middle of darkness—Brrr!" She shivered. She hated it.

Pat laid a blue shirt down upon the table. "You didn't get this shirt very clean," he said. "Better wash it over, Baby, before I wear it." He sat down and picked up his napkin and spoon.

"I'm not such a great success as a laundress, am I?" Lily asked, mournfully. "I wasn't cut out to be a housekeeper, was I Pat?" She leaned over him and kissed the back of his neck, for she still loved him very much, even if she had no love for the kind of life she had to lead as his wife.

Pat turned in his chair and looked up at her, his blue eyes shining in the sparkle of electric light. He pulled her down on his knees. "Well, you know, Baby, you just would marry a poor man!" he reminded her. "But you're not always going to be poor. The old piston ring is going to put us on Easy street, and you'll soon be having a laundress to run the Laundry Queen for you." He kissed her, and Lily could feel his heart beating against hers under his coat and she was very happy.

Long afterward she remembered that scene in the kitchen as one of the last of their briefly happy moments together. It would come back to her—the stove and the dishes sparkling in the artificial light, the toast on the table, and the blue shirt folded and lying beside it.

She looked at the blue shirt now and sighed to herself at the thought of the next wash day. She hated wash day—not only because it represented hard work, but because it was so sloppy and so soapy, somehow.

She loved comfort and luxury. How much she loved them she never had known until they were taken from her.

She hated the little flat that morning as she went around it with a duster and carpet sweeper.

"It would be lots of fun to take care of if it were pretty," she said to herself, wishing for the hundredth time that she had spent her father's check on things for the house instead of on that gray-green dress from Angoulome's.

But at half past eleven, when she began to get dressed to go to meet Staley, she was thankful for the gray-green dress. She put it on under the new brown velvet coat, and it was very stunning.

At half past twelve, when she was ready to start, it was still raining.

"And, oh boy, what rain like this will do to a brown velvet coat!" thought Lily, standing in the front windows looking at the downpour. She knew that it would ruin it.

Finally she decided to telephone for a taxicab from the janitress' suite in the basement.

She had no money to pay for the drive down town, but she knew that Staley would be waiting for her in front of the Hightower Building and would pay the driver for her. . . . And, sure enough, there he was, standing at the curbstone with a large umbrella in his hand, waiting for her.

"I was afraid you wouldn't come," he said to her when they were in his own big closed car, and on their way to the Park Lane restaurant on Albemarle street.

As they turned the corner a picture flashed out of Lily's memory for an instant—the memory of the first day she had seen Pat in this very street! She closed her eyes, and that feeling she had had for him swept back to her—that feeling that there was no one like him anywhere, and that without him life was unbearable.

"Yes, I felt like that last spring," she told herself a few minutes later as she and Staley settled themselves at a little corner table in the Park Lane restaurant where yellow-shaded lights made sunshine above them.

"But life's pretty unbearable with him, as a matter of fact," she went on thinking, and then, like an echo of her own thought, came Staley's voice asking a question:

"Well, how are things going, Lily? Any better?"

She shook her head and smiled faintly. "No—Oh, well, I shouldn't say that either!" she told him. "Pat's family presented me with a wedding gift and what DO you think it was? Something to make me do more and better work for their precious Pat! A washing machine!"

Staley roared over that. "I can't imagine you doing the washerwoman act," he said, and then his face sobered. "Gadzooks! Lily, I know it's none of my business—but it burns me up to think of you living the way you're living! You can't go on this way. You weren't made for this sort of thing! A washing machine! What do they think you are—a peasant woman?"

Lily picked up her coffee cup and drank daintily. Above it her jewel-like eyes smiled at Staley.

"No. They think it makes washday easier for me," she said. "And so it does. But honestly, Staley, you're right about the other thing you said. I can't go on living the way I am! I don't mind the work so much, but I haven't any friends or any kind of gayety or amusement. I might be dead for all the fun I have these days—and I don't know how to change things for myself. I just seem to be caught in that little flat the way an animal is caught in a trap in the woods."

It did not seem to Lily that she was being disloyal and unfair to Pat by pouring out her unhappiness and discontent to the man who had been Pat's rival—and still was, for the matter of that.

By the end of the meal he had the whole story—her poverty—her dislike of Pat's family and Sadye Jetterson—her anger at the way she had been made to work.

"Why, Pat's mother even wanted me to clerk in the grocery store!" she cried. "Can you imagine me wrapping up bread and cutting cheese, Staley?"

He said he certainly couldn't, as he gave the waiter a big tip. "The whole thing is wrong," he added. "It always was wrong—and you're not happy."

Before she had time to contradict him he went on: "If you had been happily married you'd never have telephone me that day about the Angouleme bill. You'd have gone to your husband for the help you needed."

"Would I?" asked Lily, faltering. "Are you sure?"

Staley laughed shortly. "Why, of course. . . . But you didn't. Your first thought was of me—and do you know what I made up my mind to do that night after you telephoned me? Do you know?"

"I'll tell you," he said. "Let's get out of here first though—"

He told her when they were in the big car once more, sitting side by side on the front seat. "I made up my mind that I'd have you after all," he said. "I'd never have come near you if I'd been sure you were happy—but after that I knew you weren't."

"No—I'm not." Lily spoke slowly and thoughtfully. . . . No, she wasn't happy. She still loved Pat, but she was no longer happy with him. Life had become a treadmill for both of them—

"I want you to think things over for a day or two," were Staley's parting words to her when he dropped her at her corner at 5 o'clock. "And then let me know what you're going to do."

"Going to do?" Lily echoed. Why, what did he mean? What did he expect her to do?

Deep down in her heart she knew exactly what he wanted her to do. . . . He wanted her to leave Pat and marry him. "I made up my mind I'd have you after all," he had said.

She went up the street, thinking it over in a confused sort of way, wondering how things were going to turn out for her. . . . Would she ever leave the little flat? She doubted it. She felt as if she were buried in it. Buried alive in it.

It never had looked so unattractive to her before as it looked that night, after the brightness of the Park Lane and the luxuriousness of Staley's limousine.

And as first one day and then another went by it began to look really unattractive.

For Lily had suddenly lost every bit of interest in it. She only half-cleaned it every day. She made the beds up in a careless fashion. She forgot to put on clean napkins for every meal at the table. She stopped polishing the silver and the brass ash trays. She let everything slide.

Dicky Brings a New Complication Into the Dinner Party

IF THERE was one thing more than another that I distinctly did not wish to tell Dicky over the telephone, it was the news of Philip Veritzen's projected visit to the east end of the island. It would be a hard enough task to inform him of the fact when face to face with him, and it was one which I had been dreading infinitely.

I saw, clearly, however, that I had no alternative. I had no idea of how much knowledge he possessed through Lillian's announcement to him that she and Marion were journeying down upon a Saturday. Mentally anathematizing my friend's unusual garrulity, and suspecting that her loquacity had been something deliberate, I drew a deep breath and spoke in as natural and careless a fashion as I could manage:

"Yes, isn't it glorious?" I said with what I considered a creditable simulation of enthusiasm. "Mr. Veritzen is driving them down. Why can't you manage to drive down with them? I'm sure there'll be plenty of room in that enormous car."

"No doubt," Dicky returned dryly, "and I already have received an invitation to join the festive party."

There was a distinct and unpleasant sneer in his voice, but I did not mind it. I was too occupied with my own gratitude to the particular little joss which had led me to mention Philip Veritzen. But I was furiously angry with Dicky nevertheless for the trick he had tried to play me. If I had not mentioned my employer's name he would have been able to embarrass me sorely by suddenly revealing his own knowledge of Mr. Veritzen's trip.

But I was determined that he should detect no chagrin in my voice, and my answer was abrupt and cheery.

"I hope you accepted it," I said. "It would be so much pleasanter for you than that hot train."

"Would it?" Dickey retorted, this time with the sneer much more accented. "I'm sorry our opinions differ on that point. No doubt you would find it delightful, but on the whole—I prefer the train."

There was a distinct flip to me in the knowledge which his rudeness and his raucous voice gave me. Dickey never could be guilty of such crudity as his answer revealed were he not filled with jealous anger against Philip Veritzen.

There was but one possible line for me to take, however, and that was to keep my temper, and ignore every unpleasant thing he said. So I modulated my voice to a sweetness which I maliciously guessed would infuriate him, and cooed:

"Oh, yes, I remember. You never did like to smoke in a motor car. By the way, what time are you coming? I'm planning dinner for six o'clock. From the plans Lillian was making, I imagine they'll be along about that time, and the train will be in before then, too. Or are you planning to run down in the morning?"

"No, I'm not coming down until the train getting in at five-thirty," my husband responded tartly. "That's what I wanted to talk to you about if you ever can get through raving about the desirability of the Veritzen limousine."

I grinned at the telephone, thanking that television was not yet common.

"I am all ears," I said demurely.

"Well then, please use them," my husband retorted dourly. "I want a chance to talk to that Miss Lincoln about some drawings I've planned for which I want to use her as model. And I don't want to waste any time getting to talk to her. Why can't you invite her to dinner Saturday night?"

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Girls Turn Tables and Young Men Are Worried as They Await Bid to Leap Year Dance

THE young men of Pittsburgh's social world have been quite worried lately, wondering if they were going to be asked to attend a dance, a leap year dance, to be given by the debutantes of the last few seasons. For once the situation is reversed, and the men have had an opportunity of knowing what it feels like not to be sure one has a date for a very important affair.

The girls are not only going to ask the boys, but are going to act as their escorts throughout the evening, ask for dances and everything.

This novel affair is to be given tonight in the Pittsburgh Golf Club, and the girls in charge of arrangements are Genevieve Bell, Josephine Nicola, Martha Chaltant, Mary Louise Johnston, Eleanor McCargo, Virginia Guldsbury, Elizabeth Scott and Mary Oliver.

As new as this event may sound to many of the younger set, it really isn't exactly an innovation in the city, for 25 years ago two members of the younger set of that day arranged a similar party—Mary Louise Kay, who is now Mrs. George Singer Ebbert, and Mrs. Charles Addison Foster, daughter of Mrs. Harvey Childs, Jr., and mother of Jane Foster, a debbie of this season. Mrs. Foster now lives in San Francisco.

Of course dancing will be the chief "business" of the evening, with a cotillion as the feature. The favors, I have heard, are to be quite amusing—wedding and engagement rings, harmonicas and lollipops.

There are a number of parties being given now for February brides. Among such interesting pre-nuptial affairs is a dinner dance Mrs. James Straub will give tomorrow night in the University Club, in honor of Martha Z. Christman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Percy Christman, of Washington, Pa. Martha, you know, is to marry Robert James Murray II, son of the Eugene Murrays, of Sewickley, on February 4.

Something happens ever so often to impress upon our minds how wide is the acquaintance of Pittsburgh society folk, including not infrequently those prominent in the arts.

The Emil Winters of Beechwood boulevard are to have as their house guests Mr. and Mrs. Walter Damrosch. These distinguished guests arrived in the city this morning. Needless to say, Mr. Damrosch is going to conduct the concerts of the New York Symphony Orchestra tonight and tomorrow afternoon at Syria Mosque. The present season of the orchestra marks the golden jubilee tour of the founding of the group.

Mrs. Alfred E. Jenkins is out of the city a good bit of the time. Just at present she is in New York, where she is a guest at the St. Regis Hotel.

Forty years ago, groupe of women met in the homes of Judge Marcus Acheson, in the East End, and Mrs. Catherine Ondry, in the North Side, and formed an auxiliary to the McAll Mission to France, that organization which is devoted to the establishment of evangelical fraternities for welfare work in France.

Next Friday afternoon the auxiliary will celebrate its anniversary in the home of Mrs. Wallace Hurtle Howe in Morewood avenue, when the national president, Mrs. Frank B. Kelly of Elizabeth, N. J., will attend. There is also to be a group of character songs in costume by Mrs. Edward O. Taber. Mrs. Charles H. Spencer is president of the auxiliary.

The Young Ladies' Relief Society will give an entertainment and treat for the children of the Jewish Home for Babies and Children, in Breckenridge avenue. Harvey Roy Middleman will give piano selections and Miss Leona and Miss Edna Simon will give readings. Mrs. M. London will sing and give piano numbers. Mrs. Julius Sparks is general chairman.

Miss Wilda C. Butler, of Ebensburg, who recently returned from a five-month trip through Colorado, California, Washington and other western states, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Harry A. Van Atta, of Glenshaw Heights.

Miss Florence Jennessee is chairman for the Allegria Club dance to be held February 21 in the Knights of Columbus Hall, Bellefield and Fifth avenues. Her committee includes Miss Ida Gesmond, Mrs. Anna Mantero, Mrs. Frances Aiello and Miss Lucy Navarro.

Fredericka Rebekah Lodge No. 301, I. O. O. F., will hold a card party tomorrow afternoon in Gimbels.

* * *

Court Grace, Catholic Daughters of America, will hold a Valentine leap year dance and card party next Thursday night in the Knights of Columbus Clubhouse, Fifth and Bellefield avenues. Miss Regis Kiley is general chairman, with Mrs. Frances Nestor assisting.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN TO HEAR COMMONS MEMBER

"The Disunited States of Europe" is the subject upon which Rennie Smith, M. P., will speak at the annual international luncheon of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the American Association of University Women in the Schenley Hotel Saturday, February 4. Mr. Smith is a younger member of the House of Commons, a graduate of the University of London and was for many years a lecturer for the Workers' Educational Association attached to Sheffield University. He is prominent in the labor movement in England, a frequent contributor to the British press and is directing secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War, an organization federating the national societies working in Great Britain for peace. Music for the occasion will be furnished by Arthur Davis, tenor soloist at Shady Side Church, who will give a group of songs characteristic of the different nations. Miss Nell McKenry is taking reservations for the luncheon, for which Mrs. Samuel B. Linhart is chairman.

The Mount Holyoke College Club will meet tomorrow in the Chamber of Commerce Building. Business will be the election of the graduate councilor for the next term of three years. Motion pictures of the mountaineers of Tennessee will be shown by the Rev. Harry Graham. The hostesses will be Mrs. E. R. McMillan, Mrs. Ralph Wright, Miss Frances Nannah and others.

Members of the Pittsburgh alumnae chapter and the University of Pittsburgh chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta will celebrate the fifty-eighth anniversary of the founding of the fraternity with a luncheon in Webster Hall tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. Richard B. Cuthbert will be mistress of ceremonies and the chief speaker will be Mrs. Orton Lowe, of State College, former chairman of the state alumnae board. The committee in charge includes Mrs. Homer Flint, chairman, Miss Mary Porter Boss, Miss Helen Carson, Mrs. Samuel Alter, Miss Emma Gill, Mrs. Bert W. Rowlands and Mrs. W. I. Wishart. Miss Katherine Reineman will give the musical program.

Its postponed guest night will be held by the Aspinwall Woman's Club next Thursday night in the clubhouse and the speaker will be the Rev. Dr. E. J. Van Etten. Dr. Van Etten will speak on "Mexico" and will have slides with which to illustrate his talk.

* * *

Members of the women's association of the University of Pittsburgh will hold a bridge party for the benefit of the student loan fund tomorrow evening at the Faculty Club. Mrs. George Carver, chairman of the card committee, is to be assisted by Mrs. P. D. Foote, Mrs. L. W. McIntyre, Mrs. J. C. Reed and Mrs. E. W. Tillotson. The ticket committee includes Mrs. J. C. Reed, Mrs. P. A. Forsaker, Mrs. Erle Fairfield, Mrs. G. L. Jones, Mrs. P. V. McFarland, Mrs. J. A. Crane and Mrs. G. H. Johnson.

A large attendance was present for the monthly meeting of the Keystone Chapter, Daughters of the American Pioneers, yesterday in the home of Mrs. Robert M. Ewing, Rosemary road, East End. Contralto solos by Mrs. William McCready, with Mrs. William Wray accompanying and assembly singing of "Pennsylvania," the composition of Mrs. P. F. Bohrer, who was present, made up the musical portion of the program. Current events were discussed by Mrs. R. D. Beardsley, and an exceedingly interesting paper on "Early Settlers of Pittsburgh and the Monongahela Valley" was given by Mrs. Philip Kussart, president of the Woman's Historical Society.

"Behind the Scenes in Pageantry" was discussed by George M. P. Baird yesterday at the luncheon meeting of the drama department of the Congress of Clubs, pointing out some of the problems presented in producing a major pageant. Mrs. Margaret Briscoe Hopkins, of Amherst, Mass., spoke briefly on the differences between the one-act play and the short story, and Miss Helen St. Peter outlined drama week activities and spoke of the local Drama League's annual amateur contest. Members of the Countess Maritza company furnished the music.

Judge A. D. Brandon told of his work in Morals Court before the Roselyn Farms Woman's Club yesterday afternoon, the members meeting in the home of Mrs. A. L. Harrington. Mrs. Sayre Millen had charge. At roll call each member expressed her opinion as to whether the passing of the old-fashioned home is responsible for the spirit of freedom among the youth of today.

Mrs. Carl E. Coolowsky, Congress president, will introduce Miss Fannie Hurst at the dinner to be given tonight in her honor by the Congress of Clubs. The Tuskegee Junior Singers will give several groups of songs and Miss Sara Jamison Logan, contralto, will present solos, accompanied by Miss Martha Hutson. Members of the Women's Press Club have been invited to attend the dinner.

* * *

Dr. John A. H. Keith, superintendent of Pennsylvania schools, will be the speaker February 3 at the luncheon of the educational department of the Congress of Clubs. The heads of all Pittsburgh's educational groups have been invited to attend the luncheon.

* * *

Dr. J. R. Conover spoke on "Old and New Methods in Medical Science—the Prevention of Disease" at a meeting of the Thursday Afternoon Club of Wilkinsburg in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel yesterday afternoon. At roll call the members gave the names of famous men in the medical world. Mrs. Theodore Baker was leader for the day.

* * *

The annual valentine dance of the Connellsville section, National Council of Jewish Women, will be held in the State Armory February 14. Mrs. Herman Cohen heads the committee which also includes Mrs. William Goldstone, Mrs. Max Rackoff, Mrs. L. Sapolsky, Mrs. Julius Harris, Mrs. Leon Kinsbursky and Mrs. S. Oppenheim.

ON DANCE COMMITTEE

Miss Gertrude Ifft is a member of the committee in charge of the leap year frolic to be held tonight by the University of Pittsburgh College Association in the Hotel Schenley.

The largest concert crowd of the season gathered in Carnegie Music Hall last night to hear Fritz Kreisler. Numbers and applause indicated that he is the most popular violinist before the public; his playing once again proved that he is the finest interpretive musician who comes to our halls.

The program was the stereotyped Kreisler model, descending a bit musically as the evening passed, but ascending in the spirit of joy. Any unsteadiness during the opening bars is soon forgotten and everyone must feel that technique in Kreisler's playing is always subservient to the musical idea. I am never conscious of his methods, only of the soul of his music. Surely no other violinist plays with greater poise whether the music is built on sturdy accents of the Bach dances, suave cantilena such as the andante of the Mendelssohn Concerto, or delicate folly as in his own Viennese melodies.

Carl Lamson, as heretofore, played excellent accompaniments. There were many encores, ballet music from Gluck's Orpheus, Song of India of Rimsky-Korsakov, and some numbers from a most rhapsodic suite of Dohnanyi Rorahl Ungarica.

Are your foodstuffs in a nice, clean home?

Of course, you wash the refrigerator. But you use hard water. The dirty scum, formed by the combination of hard water and soap, gets on the cloth and streaks the refrigerator walls.

A little Melo in the hardest water will make it just as soft as rain water. No curdle will get on the cloth. No annoying, greasy streaks will mar the appearance of the refrigerator. Get Melo today at your grocer's.

A Suggestion of Value to the New Rentor of Residence Apartments

THE management of Schenley Apartments, where so much thought, energy and money has been exerted in developing service, feels justified in suggesting to those who are considering leasing apartments this Spring several features absolutely essential to their comfort, consequently their satisfaction, with this modern mode of living. The thought occurs that the inexperienced or unadvised might plunge into a situation which would cause them to be unjustly prejudiced against apartment residence ever afterward.

So Be Careful Concerning These Features:

Buildings should be so arranged that service serves and never conflicts with the movements of residents. If a building does not have service and freight elevators, and tenants are compelled to share passenger elevators with help of various capacities, confusion and dissatisfaction will be a constant and unbearable experience.

If equipment for help is not provided, and servants must climb up and down stairs to reach laundries or lockers in remote parts of buildings, discontent must follow and help become a vexation and expense instead of comfort and aid to smooth living.

There should be specific channels and large elevators for delivery of heavy freight, such as moving and large packages. To use passenger elevators for this purpose inflicts great inconvenience on tenants and their friends.

Equipment for kitchen convenience should also be the concern of a new rentor of apartments. It has been established, after exhaustive experience, that kitchens are best operated when they open into service halls in which the light delivery elevator, the mail chute and the incinerator, are placed. The absence of a service hall, causing forced dispensation of these requisites, and compelling the locating of incinerators in kitchens is productive of an unbearable condition, especially when changing winds or muggy weather causes back-draughts to carry noxious odors through the rooms.

It is most important to be satisfied as to the restaurant and shopping facilities on the premises, or in the immediate neighborhood. Total lack of restaurant facilities, or being compelled to go to a distance for suddenly needed groceries, or to the drugstore and other shops, constitutes great inconvenience and imposes sacrifices.

THESE are but a few service features to insist upon. A list of 25 others are included in a pamphlet descriptive of Apartment service, which will be mailed in response to request.

This pamphlet fully describes Schenley Apartment service, in which an aggregate of 125 attendants are employed. It presents the advantages in the Schenley restaurant and delicatessen facilities on the premises, as well as diversified fine shops, responsive to the house telephone. Also the dining and entertaining service of the Hotel Schenley, as adapted to apartment requirements.

FEBRUARY SALE FURNITURE advance selections

tomorrow—monday—tuesday

Emphatically—and for well defined reasons—the greatest sale of furniture of all times at this store. Largest stock, better selection, broader variety, distinctiveness in design and style—a new and refreshing type of sale—and, to a marked degree, prices universally lower than in years of furniture selling.

Suites of all types for every room in the house—odd, novelty and occasional pieces by the thousands—already moderately priced at the regular B & B figures (a fact well demonstrated many times over)—now, without exception, at an out-and-out markdown of 20%—or even more.

Last year's great record-breaking sale to be surpassed in every respect. Insistent effort, uncompromising determination to excel—will give this sale foremost place among B & B's Furniture Events. It must—and will—justify its caption—"A Sale of Outstanding Leadership."

Just three days of Advance Selection this year—tomorrow and the first two days next week. You are invited to pass judgment — and profit substantially in furniture investment.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

A MAN'S love is weakening when he stops demanding your kisses and casually accepts them; but it is not quite dead, until he merely permits them.

* * *

No man has lost his beautiful faith in life as long as he can gaze at his reflection under a few wisps of hair and through a cloud of shaving lather, and still fondly believe that some woman loves him for his sex appeal.

* * *

A woman will go out of her way to make a man "suffer," but a man can make a woman suffer, just by going his OWN sweet way.

HELEN ROWLAND

The average man's idea of carrying on an animated conversation with his wife is to sit with that pained, faraway look in his eyes, and wait patiently until she "gets through."

A woman can forgive an ex-husband for showing "bad judgment" in his second choice; but she can never forgive any man for showing "bad TASTE" in his selection of her successor.

It's a "date" when a man makes it with his flapper-stenographer; an "engagement" when he makes it with the woman he loves—and an "appointment," when it happens to be with the dentist—or his wife.

* * *

Most husbands and wives appear to regard marriage as life's "repair department," in which it is their duty to patch up each others' weaknesses and give each other a brand new polish.

* * *

A man may spend weeks assuring a woman that she is beautiful, brilliant and noble—and then lose out to some careless philanderer, who spends five minutes assuring her that she has "IT."

* * *

A woman may admire a man for his talents and virtues; but, somehow, she never has quite the tenderest feeling for him until she has had to forgive him for something.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, January 28

What I want to be is the star and compass of what I am.
—GLEN BECK.

A DAY of pushing forward with determination and steadiness should bring excellent results in many directions, according to the stars. Labor, industry, application and perseverance should win, especially in all pertaining to real estate, agriculture, mining, machinery, as well as through new business contracts of affiliations or in literary pursuits, advertising or promotion. Be on guard as to small deceits or activities. Benefits from elders may be expected.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of many benefits won by steadiness, application and persistency. New contracts may be sought, especially in publicity, promotion, publishing; and property affairs should flourish.

A child born on this day may be clever and industrious and should gain success by its own labors as well as by the assistance of elderly people or institutions.

Fay King Urges "Guest System" for Clerks

By FAY KING

WE ARE familiar with the guest system, regarding conductors of orchestras, stars of the stage, and the exchange of professors in colleges and universities.

In other words, every now and then the celebrated leader of some orchestra in another city comes to conduct the local orchestra.

A stock company in a city supports visiting stars in the plays that brought them fame.

I have often wondered why this delightful system might not exist in the business world.

What I mean is that it would be very nice if an arrangement were made so that a temporary exchange of clerks and bookkeepers and stenographers might take place and give young persons in these fields a chance to visit other cities they long to see.

For instance, all firms in a like line do more or less business with firms of the same sort in other cities. The young people employed in those firms are familiar with the same lines of work. One could easily take the place, temporarily, of the other.

Now, wouldn't it be nice if a clerk in a certain department of a Pittsburgh store could exchange places with a clerk in the like department of a Los Angeles store for a time?

Each would do the other's work and receive the other's salary. In that way young persons who long to see other cities and cannot afford the trip, would be able to step right into their own job as a "guest clerk" or "guest stenographer," and not lose money, or their position, and still travel.

It seems to me that this system could work out very nicely and be most agreeable to all concerned!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Deeper Breathing Will Add Years to Life

DO YOU know how to breathe? "What a ridiculous question, you will say. But it isn't. Almost every skinny, emaciated person is thin as a rail because of shallow breathing.

DR. COPELAND

You can't be plump and red-cheeked unless you know how to breathe. It is breathing you need, not more food.

You know a stove won't "draw," the fuel won't burn without a free supply of air. If the ash pit is crowded with ashes the furnace fire dies. If the stove is full of clinkers and ash the fire won't burn.

The food we eat is our fuel. It cannot do us any good unless it is "oxydized." That is the scientific word meaning "burned."

The air we breathe carries to the lungs the oxygen which unites with the food elements. In this way heat is produced and the energy needed by the body is generated.

Let me apply the thought a little further. To produce steam there must be a generous fire under the boiler. This develops the energy needed to run the engine.

If the body is to be kept warm—and we would die without heat—and if more energy and physical strength are to be developed, there must be combustion of the food, the human fuel. That combustion is accomplished by the oxygen of the air, breathed into the lungs and taken up by the blood.

Every day almost, some nice little skinny person tells me she takes milk and cream and eggs, and simply can't get fat. You tell her about the breathing, and a month later ask her how she is getting on with the exercises. "Oh! I did them for three or four days and it didn't help a bit!"

"Is that so? Three or four days? What a terrible failure the system is!"

Deep breathing should be an every day of the year's practice. It should be the rule all through life. You cannot expect a long life without it. Three or four days, or that many weeks may not show results, but deep breathing habitually practiced will do more than all the dieting in the world to put on normal flesh and weight.

Ask a flat-chested emaciated girl to blow at a candle or a lace curtain. She will purse up her lips and emit a little puff that wouldn't move the wing of a fly. Her lungs are so undeveloped and her air cells so unopened that she has no air capacity at all.

How can the blood of such a person be red and rich? It just can't be. Very little of the food she eats is converted into health giving energy. Most of it is carried away, as so much wasted material. Kidneys and intestines are overworked eliminating substance which Nature intended to nourish and replenish the body.

If you are inclined to be fat, you needn't worry about deep breathing, fearing it may help to increase your weight. In your case it will help to burn up the extra fat and keep you in normal weight.

Learn to breathe. Nothing else is more important.

Answers to Health Queries

T. C. Q.—What is the cause of adhesions of stomach and duodenum and can they be prevented in any way? Would an abdominal support be harmful for one having adhesions? Can the condition be corrected without operation? Would defective teeth cause acid stomach? What will help the latter?

A.—Usually the result of operation. No. Not if properly fitted and adjusted. Operation is the only radical cure. Yes, would be a contributing cause. Have the teeth attended to and avoid excessive sweets and acid-producing foods. It is also important to keep the intestinal tract clear. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

G. B. Q.—Is it possible for a boy of 15 years to have high blood pressure?

A.—Yes. See your doctor, for treatment.

R. E. P. Q.—Would an egg taken in orange juice every morning be fattening?

A.—Not necessarily, but very nutritious.

* * *

E. A. Q.—I am nervous and have what I have always thought was vertigo but am told it is slight epilepsy—what can be done for this?

2.—I am a woman of 55—what are adhesions in the abdomen and are they dangerous?

A.—Epilepsy is generally caused by an undue drainage of nerve energy. If the place of leakage can be found there are prospects of a cure. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2.—Adhesions are bands of connective tissue, the result of inflammation or operation. The condition is not considered dangerous but often requires surgical interference. Your doctor will advise you.

Hemorrhoid Sufferers

You Can End All Pile Misery Without Cutting or Salves.

Do you know why ointments do not give you quick and lasting relief?

Why cutting often fails?

Do you know the cause of piles is internal?

That there is a stagnation of blood circulation in the lower bowel?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy discovered by Dr. Leonhardt and known as HEMROID, now sold by May Drug Co. and druggists everywhere, that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause, by freeing blood circulation in the lower bowel. This simple home treatment has an almost unbelievable record for sure, quick and lasting relief to thousands of pile sick sufferers, and saves the needless pain and expense of an operation. There is no reason why it should not do the same for you.

For the Lovelorn

Wondering.

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am counting to you for some of the wonderful advice, which I find in your columns. I am very much interested in a boy whom I see very frequently but do not know so well. My girl friend knows his brother very well. But the one I care for is never with the brother that goes with my friend. How may I be able to know him much better? I agree with you on the kissing question. Please tell me what to do as I am.

WONDERING.

Why not have your girl friend arrange a double date with this boy and his brother?

Thinking

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have read your column for a number of years and would like to ask a little advice of you. My problem is this: I have been going with a girl for about a year. She does not always talk to me when she sees me. There is another girl whom I often think of who often gives me with a smile but does not know whether to talk to me for fear of breaking up our friendship with the other girl, and I think the same way.

THINKING.

Since the first girl treats you so queerly, why not accept the friendship of the girl who seems to like you?

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

by HARRY KECK
SPORTS EDITOR

THERE is a lot of hokum about college athletics. This is aside from the usual bunk about how good and clean each individual institution is compared with its neighbor.

Glenn Thistlethwaite, Wisconsin's football coach, spoke the truth, when, the other day, he told a father-and-son gathering that he was "sick of hypocritical coaches who stress character building and good sportsmanship and minimize victories," adding facetiously that this should be his year to speak of character-building.

Pop Warner

"Winning football games is the first business of every coach," Thistlethwaite said. "Heads of winning teams stress this point. Coaches of losing teams orate about the importance of character building and sportsmanship."

GLENN S. (POP) WARNER, one of the greatest coaches of all time, is credited with having made a classic remark along these lines once when he was asked why his team was not going well.

"I have too many good students and not enough good football players," he replied.

THERE'S no sense in having the coaches or anybody else try to kid the public about that character-building stuff. If a coach doesn't produce winning football teams no one stops to consider whether or not

NO MORE MOVES TO BE MADE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—New conciliation moves to save the 1928 Army-Navy football game appeared today to have failed.

It was said at the War Department that no further conference on the subject between the superintendents of West Point and Annapolis was in prospect so far as known here.

This was interpreted to mean that proposals outside the service for such a meeting had been rejected.

NEBRASKA SILENT

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Although reports were current today that the University of Nebraska and the Army football elevens will meet on the Soldier Field gridiron next fall, the athletic officials at Lincoln, Neb., refused to verify the reports.

Nebraska has been angling for the game and is said to have offered the Army $15,000 to meet the Cornhuskers.

Duquesne worked out on Waynesburg Tuesday evening, downing Katy Easterday's fighting Yellow Jackets in a rough and tumble game. Tonight things are not expected to be as trying for the locals, and the home boys may be considered favorites over the Saints.

BUCS NOW ALMOST ALL IN FOLD

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

A NEWS report from Franklin stating that Joe Harris, Pirate firstbaseman, had signed a Pirate contract for the current season was confirmed today by officials of the Pittsburgh club.

Coulter Joe, the report states, was treated generously, as was the case one year ago when Harris, after affixing his name to his first Pittsburgh contract, expressed deep satisfaction over the terms of the agreement.

HARRIS

Coincident with the signing of the veteran performer, the Pirate directors stated that nearly all of the players were formally within the fold for the 1928 campaign.

"And we do not expect any serious trouble from any who have not yet returned their contracts," said Treasurer Sam Dreyfuss.

The treasurer did not care to identify any of the athletes who so far have not returned their signed documents. Many of the Pirates are said to have signed before leaving Pittsburgh last fall. There is still considerable time for this formality.

CHILLY SAUCE

By CHILLY DOYLE

JOE KELLY, former Pirate outfielder and new manager of the Columbia club of the South Atlantic League, has played many games in many climes since taking off the Pittsburgh spangles in 1914. Joe spent yesterday with Barney and Sam Dreyfuss in the furtherance of the Columbia club, which is controlled by the Pittsburgh owners.

ALWAYS a dependable outfielder and a topnotch baserunner, Kelly batted well for the most part, but he could not get his hickory working consistently while he played in the Pirate pasture. Discussing his term of service with the Pittsburgh club, Joe dwelt on a flock of pitchers, who, if they were taking their turns today, would cut deeply into the .300 hitters of the sport.

IN those days there was no "rabbit ball." Another barrier to the bat swingers was found in the abundance of spitball pitchers. Whenever Burleigh Grimes or Bill Doak starts to warm up in present-day baseball you will hear groans from more than one hitter. How would you like to face an array of "spitters" such as this: Jimmy Lavender, Larry Cheney, Dick Rudolph, Bill James and Bill Doak? Then to that crowd, add the Alexanders, Rixeys, Tylers et al, when they were in their prime. Small wonder the .300 circle was an exclusive set a dozen years back!

WHEN the Phillies go into battle these days, you will see their current manager order a squad of sharpshooters to the bullpen. It's about a 10-to-1 shot that the starting pitcher will be in the safety of the showers before the fifth inning is reached. A procession of "throw-

K. OF C. PLANS DUX EVENT

After a little delay in order to make certain that dates would not conflict with those of other local tournaments, the committee appointed by the directors of the Pittsburgh Chapter, Knights of Columbus, Bowling League, has decided to hold the annual Knights of Columbus duckpin bowling tournament during the week of March 5. The tournament will open on Monday night and continue on through for a week and will be held in the spacious quarters of Duquesne Council.

The tournament, conducted at Old City last year, the first of its kind, was quite a success, but this year it is hoped that things can be kept humming for a week and invitation and entry blanks will be forwarded to all councils. All the local councils are lining up to enter from one to six teams apiece in the tournament.

President Denny of the Chapter League will personally look after the tournament. He has appointed Brother George Flamman of Charters Council as chairman of the publicity committee. Brother Tuscy of Pittsburgh Council, the present secretary of the league, has been made manager of the tournament and is already at work formulating his plans for one of the greatest events held by local Knights of Columbus.

Hotel accommodations are being made to take care of visiting knights and an entertainment committee will also be appointed to make them feel at home.

NOTES of the BOXERS

PITTSBURGH district boxers will have a busy time of it tonight. Five of them box at Erie, Jack Zivic meets Billy Light at St. Paul and amateurs make up an interesting card under the auspices of the Harry Greb A. C., in the United Civic Hall, North Side.

Mike Morsa and Johnny Ryan of Boston will head the Erie program. In other bouts, Jack Harry meets Mickey Solomon of Erie, Nicy Russell engages Johnny Carey of Erie, Freddie Boylstein hooks up with Harry Brignolia of Erie and Young Amona of New Kensington boxes Mike Mulligan of Erie.

Sandy Seifert, North Side heavyweight, will be among the notables present for the first show of the Harry Greb Club. Music and singing are scheduled, in addition to the following bouts, which have received A. A. U. sanction: Exhibition by Mastrean Twins, Joe Pace vs. Jack Ryan, Bob Smoller vs. Chuck Callio, Hugh Fetzer vs. Bill Dewey, Louis Santucci vs. Joe Jeskey, Stanley Phillips vs. Frankie Harper and Freddie Mastrean vs. Dixie Delmar.

Bruce Flowers, New York's Negro lightweight star, boxes Lope Tenerio, the Filipino, in the main bout in Madison Square Garden tonight. Sammy Dorfman meets Joey Sangor, Archie Bell boxes Vic Burrone and Alfuro Shekels opposes Mickey Chapin in other bouts on the bill.

Other boxing shows scheduled tonight include: Jimmy Goodrich vs. Pop O'Brien at Williamsport, Armand Emanuel vs. Joe Lohman at Los Angeles and Bobby Garcia vs. Phil Raymond at Baltimore.

HAHN MAY VIE WITH PELTZER IN N. Y.

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—The possibility of a meeting between Lloyd Hahn, the Boston A. A.'s crack miler, and Dr. Otto Peltzer of Germany at the Millrose A. A. games in New York on February 2 was indicated by Jack Ryder, B. A. A. coach.

"Why not settle the thing at the Millrose games?" Ryder said. "They're both entered in that. Hahn in the mile and Peltzer in the 880. Hahn's perfectly willing to shift to the half if the officials are willing."

The chances of a meeting in the National A. A. U. championships in New York on February 25 are likely to strike a snag in the combination of a conflict of dates and Hahn's own desires. The New England A. A. U. championship 1,000-yard race will be held in Boston on the same night that the National event is run in New York and Hahn may be asked to defend his district title. At the same time the Boston runner wants to run at Kansas City on February 18 "to give his folks from Nebraska their first chance to see him in a big race," Ryder explained.

The trip to Kansas City, while not enough to threaten him with defeat in the New England 1,000 a week later might take off too much edge for a race against such a runner as Peltzer, Ryder felt.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Little chance that Lloyd Hahn would oppose Peltzer in either the half-mile or mile events at the Millrose A. A. games was seen last night by A. A. U. officials despite Hahn's statement that he was willing to change his entry to oppose the German. Peltzer has said he would not be in condition to meet hard opposition in his first start and consequently would not

LOCAL GOLFER FAVORED IN EAST COAST PLAY

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Jan. 27.—Nat Holmes of Pittsburgh ruled a slight favorite to win in the final of the second flight in the Florida East coast golf championship tournament being played over the St. Augustine links today.

He will oppose J. S. Rayburn of St. Augustine. In the championship division, Jock Cattell, 17-year-old Scotch lad, will cross clubs with Eddie Conner of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Joe Capo of St. Augustine will see off against Van Culver of New York in the semi-final round.

BLAKE AND JONES SIGN WITH CUBS

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Two more Cubs, both pitchers, Sheriff Blake and Percy Lee Jones, sent in their signed contracts yesterday, making the Cub roster nearly complete. Jones, whose arm bothered him last year, asked permission to start for the Catalina training camp February 1, ten days ahead of the first squad of battery men.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia, three-cushion billiard champion of the world, successfully defended his title last night by defeating Tiff Denton of Kansas City, 50 to 34, in the fifth and final block of a 200-point match.

Reiselt completed the block in 44 innings.

The match was the best Reiselt has ever played in competition, his final score being 300 in 253 innings, better by 40 innings than his previous mark. Denton's total was 187.

CARPENTERO VICTOR OVER RODGERS

By JESS CARVER.

LUIS CARPENTERO, a mite of a Filipino flyweight, of Toledo, O., planted himself squarely in the path of Jackie Rodgers, who has been making quite a name for himself in local pugilistic ranks recently, and put an effectual damper and temporary check on Jackie's ambitions last night. Carpentero took away the decision in a 10-round bout with the North Side colored boy at the Palisades, McKeesport, beating Rodgers all the way.

Even though Carpentero's advantage over Rodgers at the end of the bout seemed clean-cut to the fans, referee and one of the judges, the other judge decided that Rodgers' last-round rally had earned him a draw, and so voted. That was Judge Arnold. Judge Graff and Referee Mart Deitz both voted for Carpentero.

Carpentero carried six rounds by a wide margin, and deserved at least a draw in two of the others. He sidetracked Rodgers' vaunted right hand, and while it did explode

DUNDEE HURTS THUMB, CLEVELAND BOUT OFF

BALTIMORE, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Joe Dundee, welterweight champion, will be unable to go through with his scheduled 12-round battle Monday with Clyde Hull in Cleveland because of a badly injured thumb, his manager, Max Waxman, today telegraphed the Ohio promoters.

Waxman asked a postponement of a week or 10 days. He announced that X-ray pictures of the injured thumb had been taken and forwarded to the Cleveland boxing commission.

WILKES BARRE, Pa., Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Pete Latzo of Scranton, former welterweight champion, who was scheduled to meet Maxie Rosenbloom of New York in a 10-round bout here tonight, is suffering from a severe attack of grip and the bout has been postponed until February 8.

CLOSE-UP OF GERMAN FLIER

Here is a study of Peltzer, Germany's main Olympic hope, as he appears on the cinderpath or board track. The forthcoming clashes between Peltzer and Hahn promise to be the blue ribbon events of the year in the track and field realm.

This picture of Peltzer was taken as he was setting a world record of 1 minute, 53 3-5 seconds in winning the half-mile run in the international track and field meet at Stamford Bridge, London, last year.

PITT SWIM TEAM LEAVES FOR ARMY

Coach Pat J. Cory and seven Pitt swimmers will leave tonight for West Point, N. Y., to meet the Army tankers tomorrow afternoon.

Capt. Bill Wright, Al Mango, Dave Lithgow, Pete Bowen, William Harper, Harry Robb and Charles Jackson will open the season against the Cadets.

With every man back from last year's team, Pitt should have a formidable aggregation.

SOCCER by TOM BIRKS

ONE big game is scheduled for tomorrow and will find Harmarville Whippets meeting the Union Switch and Signal team at Swissvale in the National Amateur cup. Seeing that both clubs agreed upon a postponement last Saturday, it is expected that a wonderful crowd will be on hand to watch the battle.

There is no question but what Manager Robinson will do his utmost to win this game. There is an even chance that the winner of this session will team up with Braddock in the next round, and should that game be played on Harmarville's financial troubles would be over.

Bobby Robinson had a busy assignment on Tuesday evening when he was put into requisition to handle the Western Pennsylvania Football Association's business for the first time. Of course, Bobby did not know all of the questions that might that can be pulled off, full of the kind of stuff that should not have been allowed. However, Bobby was cool and will not easily be rattled should he be in the chair at the next session.

Bobby is a postmaster in the art of stringing along a meeting to the mixed audience. However, everybody has to learn and that session on Tuesday should provide the genial Harmarville man with plenty of experience should he be in the chair at the next special meeting. Being chairman in a political row, traverse, these days, requires expert grace and Bobby showed plenty of that at the last session.

Quite a number of bouquets were thrown at Mike Bookis during the week since the ousting of that inter-state game. Pittsburghers claim that the Curtis star gave the greatest forward passing exhibition ever seen in the Iron City.

Well, if Bookis was any better in that game than he was five years ago at St. Louis when Ardan played Scullen Steel in the semi-final of the National Challenge cup, he must have been a wonder. At that particular time St. Louis was in the throes of a soccer revival. Scullen Steel had a good team, and what is more had also a 17-foot rabbit supporters that could not see anything in the country holding the Mound City outfit.

That game found Bookis and Johnny Joyce of the scullers, Cosby Sims, and Brady Hughes, fullback, and the idol of the Missouri fans found his legs run off.

Bookis and Joyce played wonderful football that day and scored two goals in five minutes stopping the St. Louis crowd. However, Jack Morris was refereeing and that was his off day, for the second goal was disallowed. It was the greatest game ever played by Bookis and followers from this district who saw that game will agree with these views.

Carl Meisenberg, manager of the Carman Sports Club, sure did get a load off his mind at that meeting Wednesday evening. This was settled as the evening went along and Jock McKay of the Corinthians asked the league for a home game this coming Sunday. The Corinthians are scheduled to play at West View against the clubman club, but funds are low in the Castle Shannon club's treasury.

The Corinthians have not played a home league game since November 14, according to McKay. Meisenberg was on his feet in an instant and made the Shannon boys an offer that has never been equaled in this district. Feeling like that should help the sport go a long way.

SWAT KING PASSES UP WORK IN GYM

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(AP.)—Babe Ruth seems to have grown a bit careless about adhering to his program of conditioning for the coming season.

In spite of the glowing reports of the Yankee slugger's condition, his order for golf and duck hunting, it develops that the big fellow has neglected the gymnasium training that he credited with putting him back on his feet after his famous 1925 collapse, and also with putting him in shape for his record 1927 home-run campaign.

Ruth, down close to normal playing weight, may consider his activities with the shotgun and miblick enough to keep in condition, but his trainer, Artie McGovern, is a bit skeptical.

Several weeks ago the Babe proclaimed to all within hearing that he was about to knuckle down to hard work for several weeks, taking systematic exercise designed to send him South in top trim.

"Even last year I got off a little slow," the Babe explained. "I hit only four homers in April. I'm not going to overlook any bets this season. Put it down that I'll be in shape to start off at a faster clip."

But the Bambino hasn't knuckled down to any rigorous work of the sort he stuck to last winter. He pooh-poohs any suggestion that he needs much of it or that he is growing careless, but baseball alley along Forty-second street is beginning to shake its head and wonder whether it was a good idea, after all, when the Yankees signed Babe to a three-year contract. With Ruth assured his $70,000 for 1928 and 1929, the experts see the possibility of the big hitter losing some of his incentive and yielding to a desire to take life and his baseball easier.

OLYMPIC STARS ENTER MILLROSE GAMES

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—The indoor track and field carnival of the Millrose Athletic Association, annually one of the most colorful fixtures of the winter season, will bring together a galaxy of internationally prominent stars on February 2 at Madison Square Garden.

The meet is virtually an advance showing of Olympic talent, for scores of veterans as well as youngsters hopeful of making the trip to Amsterdam in July are among the entrants. National and college champions stud the list of participants, with the West as well as the East well represented.

The unexpected filing of an entry by Dr. Otto Peltzer of Germany gave heightened interest in the meet although his participation was

SCHOOL TEAMS IN ACTION

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

Games in the City Senior League and W. P. I. A. L. today will mark the closing down of scholastic basketball courts for a week or more due to mid-year examinations. There are no games of any particular consequence, and, except that an upset is recorded, the schools have to look forward to the latter half of their races with the reopening of competition.

Several schools are likely to be handicapped for players following the examinations, due to graduation and ineligibility because of scholastic standing.

South High School's combination puts to a test the strength of Fifth Avenue, conquerors of Schenley, and Schenley itself takes on the comparatively strong Peabody outfit in Section 1 of the City League. Perry meets Oliver, Allegheny clashes with Langley and South Hills invades Carrick in the Section 2 contests.

W. P. I. A. L. outstanding games appear to be the Har-Brac and Arnold, Swissvale and Wilkinsburg, Beaver Falls and New Brighton, Beaver and Ambridge, Monessen and Charleroi, Duquesne and Homestead, Rankin and Braddock, McKees Rocks and Coraopolis, and Greensburg and Uniontown games.

FIGHT

on his chin and head once or twice, he easily shook off the effects of the punches and swirled back into the fighting to give as good, if not better, than he received.

The Filipino's style bothered Rodgers, who was never able to fathom his opponent's attack. Carpentero is a southpaw, and fights from a crouch. He rushes in swinging either a right or a left hand, shifts well and has a kick in both mitts. He cracked Rodgers on the chin three or four times so hard that he shook the entire Rodgers' family tree.

Carpentero won the first, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth rounds, according to my tally. The second frame was even, and Rodgers had a slight edge in the third and possibly the last. The ninth was also a toss-up.

RODGERS BAFFLED

Carpentero did his best work from the fourth round to the ninth. He repeatedly blocked Rodgers' right hand shots, and punched Jackie about the body and head with a thousand wallops. He completely outclassed the North Side midget at infighting, tying him up and beating a crackling tattoo on his body. He caught many of Rodgers' rights on his shoulders and arms, and while to those back from the ring the blows looked like they were finding their way home, in reality they were useless.

Rodgers, finding that he could not fight Carpentero standing up, tried to crouch with him in the seventh round, and came pretty close to getting dumped. Carpentero brushed aside Jackie's left and tumbled into him, smacking him squarely on the jaw with a vicious right chop that caused Jackie's knees to sag. He grabbed frantically at the taunting, bobbing brown boy and weathered the storm successfully.

In the ninth and tenth rounds, sensing that the only way he could possibly hope to gain a verdict would be to plant the Filipino, Rodgers threw his right hand time and again at the grinning Islander, who turned the wallops back and planted his own blows on Jackie's kisser. He did take one or two on the chin and once or twice, Rodgers landed his right to the body, but most of the blows were "ridden out" by Carpentero and did little damage.

Rodgers weighed 114½ pounds. Carpentero came in at 112.

The show was well attended. Marty Delia refereed all the bouts.

JoieRay's Comeback Plans Approved

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—So far as the National Amateur Athletic Union is concerned, there is nothing now on Joie Ray's record to prevent him from registering again as an amateur and returning to indor competition, it was announced in answer to reports from Chicago that he planned to try for a place on the Olympic team.

Two years ago Ray turned in his A. A. U. card and announced he intended to turn professional. It was understood he planned to work in a sporting goods business and assist in advertising in a manner which would prevent him from retaining, at the same time, any amateur status. So far as records here show, however, Ray did not professionalize himself, nevertheless he dropped out of competition.

Steps now are being taken to put the veteran former mile champion back in good standing. His case first will be acted on by Roy O. Davis of Chicago, chairman of the Central A. A. U. Association's registration committee before it reaches national headquarters here.

DUKES

Donahoe, former Carnegie Tech star, Bill took over the reins at St. Francil this year as basketball coach, and so far has been fairly successful. The style of play employed by the Saints is not known. It will have to be pretty good to beat the Dukes right now.

There is another Conference game on the books for tonight, and it is a highly important one. Up at New Wilmington, Westminster, also undefeated in Conference play and the other even choice team for the league honors, will try for a third win in a game with Bethany's Green Blooms. This game is about the best of the week-end, which is a rather skimpy one in college circles, due to the fact that most of the tri-state schools are holding their mid-term exams.

Bethany has won two games and lost one in the Conference. Waynesburg and Geneva were both defeated, while the Dukes managed to upset the Bisons.

huskers on the latter's field. John K. Selleck, business manager of Nebraska athletics, said so far as he knew no contract had been signed, but that a Nebraska delegation now in New York would meet with the Army officials today or tomorrow to discuss the possibility of the two schools meeting either in Chicago or Lincoln.

The game, if played, would probably be on November 24, as that is the date which the Army still has open following collapse of the annual schedule with the Navy. The seating capacity of Soldier Field, where 117,000 can be accommodated, is the argument advanced in favor of Chicago as the setting for the game.

PLAN CHICAGO CLASH

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Dr. Otto Peltzer, the German half-mile champion, hoped today to arrange with Illinois Athletic Club officials the conditions that will prevail for his special match race with Lloyd Hahn of Boston at the club's indoor track and field games February 16.

The club officials said both men have entered for a match, the distance and minor conditions remaining to be adjusted. Peltzer has asked the match be for 1,000 yards and that distance is thought to be agreeable to Hahn.

Although the Peltzer-Hahn race will feature the meet, the two-mile university relay is attracting considerable interest. Notre Dame, Michigan, Iowa, Ames and Northwestern have entered, and more entries are expected before the list closes February 8.

ALECK THE GREAT was in his heyday about the time Kelly broke in as a major-leaguer. There was no bullpen panic when this picturesque farmer boy began to unwind his slants. In less than one and one-half hours, Aleck, too, would be under the showers but the game would be over in favor of the Quakers, as a rule, and the customers were on their way to early suppers.

AND after you had whacked away for nine rounds at Alexander, all you had to look forward to in the next two days was a shot at Eppa Jeppa and another at Erskine Mayer. There were two "birds" that made the boys sing the blues.

PARTLY due to the lively ball, the pitching as a whole, is not up to the standard of 12 years ago. But the difference in the ball does not tell the whole story. Hard Year in View for Ruppert's Crew

By GEORGE E. PHAIR

NIGHT comes and Colonel Ruppert's brow is clouded
With problems of the coming baseball year.
The outcome of the pennant race is shrouded
With fog and mist and cloudy atmosphere.

'TIS not because the holdout boys are scoffing
And sending back the documents to sign;
Full well he knows that Spring is in the offing,
The holdout boys will trace the dotted line.

INTO October field his vision wanders,
Intent on Pirates, Giants, Cubs and all,
And in the waning Winter night he ponders:
"I wonder who will meet the Yanks next Fall?"

A PITCHERS' battle that is waged through many innings without a score may hold great appeal for an "expert" baseball fan, but it falls far short of matching a 19-9 slugfest in the matter of appeasing the appetite of the average rush customer. In this respect hockey and baseball are much alike. No play in the ice game is more thrilling than is a play that produces a score, and it is going to occasion no great regret if the record of Pittsburgh and Boston, which shows three successive scoreless deadlocks, is not extended here tomorrow night.

Ottawa defeated Chicago last night, 5 to 6. The high score would indicate that the defense play of both clubs was extremely ragged, but, according to a news dispatch from Ottawa, the fans gloried in the scoring orgy. Yes, scoring is the thing, and if the Pirates-Bruins blow-off comes on Duquesne Garden ice tomorrow it will come none too soon.

The decision of Manager Odie Cleghorn to do a comeback is an occasion for cheering. Odie is husky and Odie is hearty, and one of the Bucs' great needs is more weight. Cleghorn started his climb up the comeback trail at Boston Tuesday and he has announced that he will be in uniform again tomorrow. Because the Bostonians are heavy, rough and tough, Odie chose an auspicious moment for his return to active competition. He can lend valuable aid in the business of making the Bruins tender. Such vigorous body checking as enabled Montreal to top Toronto, 3-0, yesterday will not be out of place here tomorrow. Odie probably can be counted upon to contribute his share.

The recent spurt of the New York Rangers would indicate that it is Detroit and not the Gothamites, that the Babe will have to beat if they are to win a play-off berth. The 5-0 win that the Rangers scored over the Chicagos last night smoothed the Pirate path somewhat, but the locals still have a very perilous road to travel.

Teams to Aid Local Miners

By JULIUS LEVIN.

ONE of the largest crowds of the season is expected to pack the South Side Market House tonight when the Goldensons oppose the all-stars of the Philadelphia Company League in a benefit contest for the destitute miners in the Greater Pittsburgh district.

Meyer Goldenson, backer of the team bearing his name and sponsor of tonight's program, has arranged three attractive games and an extensive card of entertainment. In order to assure the miners' fund of a substantial return, Goldenson has agreed to pay all expenses of the affair.

Kempton F. McNutt and George Milne, prominently identified with Philadelphia Company athletics, have succeeded in getting the leading stars of the league interested in tonight's game and the all-stars will present a lineup that should extend the Goldensons to the limit.

STARS IN LINEUP

Included in the lineup of the all-stars tonight are Dusty Rhoades, House of Service; Martin, Duquesne Light; Lahr, Duquesne Light; Cowan, Pittsburgh Railways; Servick, House of Service; Hursen, Byllesby Company; Stepp, Byllesby Company; Staiger, Philadelphia Company; Robb, House of Service and Robertson, Duquesne Light.

Besides the main attraction, the Philadelphia Company girls and the Goldenson Vanities, two of the strongest girl teams operating in this section, will meet in the first preliminary game, while the Sam Meyers Club clashes with the Moon Klinsing five in the second.

Interest in the benefit affair is reported high in local basketball circles and preparations have been made to handle a banner turnout of fans.

All attention in the Allegheny County League will be focused on Broadway Hall, Beechview, tonight when the Broadway Club entertains the Duquesne Lafayettes, champions of 1927 and winners of the first-round title.

The Lafayettes find their supremacy in the County League race challenged by the Goose Goslins of the South Side and cannot afford to suffer another setback at this stage.

The Broadway passers have bolstered their lineup for the second round and are confident of handing the Lafayettes a neat lacing tonight. While the Broadway Club has suffered some hard-luck defeats so far this season, it is likely to give the champions a tough argument tonight.

The Broadway Club plays its best ball at home and will take the floor against the Lafayettes tonight with more than an even chance of winning.

LAFAYETTES OPEN

The Duquesne Lafayettes have next Wednesday night open for a first-class team desiring a game at Duquesne. The Lafayettes originally had the Cleveland Rosenblums booked to appear in Duquesne, but the game was called off when the Cleveland booking agent attempted to demand a bigger guarantee than was originally agreed upon. Teams seeking this date call Tom Shields at Duquesne 5153, line 19 during the day, or Duquesne 2404s in the evening.

Instead of meeting the Duquesne Lafayettes, the Cleveland Rosies will be the attraction of the McKeesport Cyclers. The Rosies agreed to play the Lafayettes for $150, but when the Cyclet management offered to play the American Leaguers for $175, the Rosies abandoned plans to appear in Duquesne.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Baseball tides which shifted Tris Speaker to various major league ports appeared in a position today to carry him back to his first love on the Fenway of Boston.

He has been released from the Senators and there are reports that he is being sought by the Red Sox and Giants.

SPEAKING of SPORTS

he is uplifting the moral tone of the players under him. Alumni and undergraduates show signs of unrest, the public stays away from the games, thereby reducing the gate receipts to a minimum, and the skids are greased for the incumbent coach and the horizon scanned for one who can turn out a winning eleven.

It's all very well to prate about the finer qualities of collegiate athletics and their lasting benefits, but it is a cold and hard fact that victories are the sweetest and most stimulating feature of the sports.

A CANADIAN contemporary calls attention to a swing of the pendulum in the hockey realm which is bringing back into popularity left-handed shots in preference to right-handers. The offer of a magnate in the Canadian professional circuit of $2,500 for a player to fill a gap at left wing, with an additional $2,000 if he were a southpaw, brought up the subject, and the writer of the article recalls a time when left-handed shots were a drug on the market.

Ty Cobb.

Going back about 20 years, it was quite unusual for a left-hander to break into the lineup, he says, the custom being to have two right-handers holding down the wing berths. Then came a change, a flock of left-handers suddenly making their appearance and crowding out the right-handers to the extent that one prominent club went five full seasons with only one capable portsider on its squad. Then came another cycle of right-handers, so pronounced that a premium now is placed on good lefties once more.

A PARALLEL might be drawn with baseball in this connection. Remember the era of left-handed batters, during which it was contended that the right-handed hitters would be left far behind because of the fact that a southpaw batter got the jump going to first base and would beat out more hits? A flock of nifty stars, headed by the amazing Ty Cobb, bore out the contention, but the pendulum also swung in this sport, for Harry Leilmann and Rogers Hornsby, right-handers, came along and upset the dope by leading the two major leagues season after season.

Boxing is one of the sports in which the southpaws never have gained the upper hand. The percentage of really good southpaw ringmen has been very small. In recent years, two of this brigade, Johnny Wilson and Tiger Flowers, have won the middleweight championship, and George (K. O.) Chaney and Lew Tendler have gone far in the lightweight ranks. There have been some other good left-handers, but these stand out.

NOT only the smaller boxing clubs about the country, but also such aces as Fred Alderman, captain of last year's Michigan State team and intercollegiate quarter-mile champion; Karl Wildermuth, the Georgetown sophomore sensation; Folwell Scull, Pennsylvania football star; Frank Hussey, who is attempting a come-back; Al Miller, 200-pound Harvard speed merchant, and Robert Greenwade, "dark horse" from Silver City, New Mexico.

conditional upon action of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Further international flavor is given by the entry of two German walkers in the heel and toe feature. Canada's colors will be carried by several stars, among them Wallace Graham, the Canadian intercollegiate two-mile champion.

Lloyd Hahn, king pin of American milers, will meet old rivals in the Rodman Wanamaker Mile, among them Jimmy Connolly of the New York A. C. and Joe Sivak of the Illinois A. C. Ray Conger, former Iowa star, is another entry.

The sprints will bring together Tex Rickard's Madison Square Garden, the largest arena in the world, is feeling the pinch of tight money that is so evident throughout the sports world these days. At a reorganization meeting a few days ago, a half-dozen long-time employes of the Garden were lopped off the payroll and it is said more are to go, with the idea of curtailing something like $100,000 from the annual overhead. John Chapman, erstwhile manager of the six-day bicycle races in the Garden, was made a vice president of the corporation and an assistant to Rickard as general manager, and the pink slips were handed out the day following Rickard's departure for a vacation with Gene Tunney at Miami. Among those let out was Frank Flournoy, an old associate of Rickard and once his matchmaker.

Wealthy Share Investment Opportunities With Public

By B. C. FORBES

NO LONGER can persons of modest means complain of not being given opportunity to buy into successful enterprises, institutions and industries.

Is there, in fact, any industry whose shares cannot be purchased by the public on the same terms as the rich?

Privately-owned companies of magnitude are becoming fewer and fewer.

IT HAS been pointed out that in the real estate field the public have been offered only bonds paying a fixed rate of interest and have not been given a chance to buy common shares in large realty and construction concerns. "Profits above a fair investment return have been kept by the insiders," it has often been remarked.

Lately there have been one or two plans launched with the avowed purpose of enabling investors to get more than fixed return on mortgage bonds.

Now comes a direct offering of common stock in an old-established realty and construction company. Investors are under no obligation to purchase bonds or any other interest-bearing securities in order to participate in the profits.

THE company making this innovation has had a unique history. Founded 35 years ago by Julius Tishman, he did something often done in older countries but not often done here.

He educated each of his five sons specifically to fit them to take hold of one particular phase of the business.

While still at college each son began preparing himself for his ordained life's work. Thus, sons were trained as engineers, in law, etc., and then took up work along these lines in the father's growing business.

Today all five sons are administrating important departments, under the chairmanship of the founder of the business.

A BANKER familiar with the facts gives me this interesting picture.

"Until very recently the public has had no opportunity to participate in the real estate business. The individual who wanted to make an investment in real estate could, of course, buy certain individual properties, but it is a very limited opportunity, his judgment of values was apt to be wrong. There have been for a long time available to the public mortgage bonds on specified properties, but these cannot be regarded as an actual participation in the profits of the real estate business. In short, although the investor could buy the common stocks of railroads, public utilities and almost every kind of industrials, there was practically no way in which he could become a shareholder in a real estate company.

"Recently, however, an important forward stride was made to remedy this peculiar situation. The first step was taken in the offering of preferred stocks of real estate companies, such as those of Benjamin Winter, Inc., and Lefcourt Realty Corporation. The second step was the offering of common stock of the Tishman Realty and Construction Company, Inc.

"This company is really engaged in a manufacturing business. Its raw materials are land, bricks, steel and mortar. Its output is apartment or office buildings, which, when completed, are leased and managed so that they are income-producing. Then the finished product is sold to a real estate investor, either a company or an individual.

"Although the earnings of this business are those primarily of the nature of a manufacturing profit, the company also often buys properties, both improved and unimproved, in anticipation of their appreciation in value and later sells them without further improvement.

"Thus the public has finally been given an opportunity to participate in a real estate business run by experts."

EXPERTS always counsel diversity of investments. What, with investment trusts of every conceivable variety and, now, common shares in realty and construction companies, there certainly is no lack of kinds and classes of securities to choose from in this country.

The old advice still holds good, however: "Investigate before you invest."

ARKANSAS GAS SHOWS STEADY GAIN HERE

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Bond prices today continued to follow a steady course, with an undertone of firmness. While maintenance of the New York Federal Reserve Bank's rediscount rate at 3½ per cent for another week allayed uneasiness over the money outlook to some extent, traders still were hesitant about adding to commitments. Raising of the Richmond rate and the firm undertone in the time money field contributed to their inclination to await developments.

New offerings were not large, and only a moderately heavy volume of new issues is in sight. Marketing of $31,000,000 6½ per cent bonds of the City of Rio Janeiro is expected in a few days, and there were recurrent rumors of a large loan to Rumanian railroads.

A few prominent railroad liens were the leaders in the domestic list today. Chesapeake Corporation 5s again sold at par and a fractional improvement was recorded in Rock Island 4½s. A few petroleum and copper bonds made slight gains, but other industrials and the utilities were generally quiet.

Foreign issues pursued an even course with few outstanding features.

United States government issues again were slow in getting started. Traders in this department for the past few weeks have apparently held off until the closing minutes of the sessions before entering their orders to buy or sell.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—(AP.)—Trading in the most active issues on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales, colored United States bonds in dollars and fifty seconds of dollars:

BANDIT VICTIM SAYS HE WAS POISONED

With a note in his pocket that he had been poisoned by two Negroes, John T. Tuntari, 40, of 1316 Denniston avenue, Swissvale, was found unconscious this morning by pedestrians on the West Bradduck Bridge.

At the Braddock General Hospital, where the man was taken by Deputy United States Marshal John Lowers, who happened by in his automobile, the man, regaining consciousness, told attendants that he had been waylaid on the bridge about 10 o'clock this morning by two Negroes, who identified him, tied his hands, robbed him of $1 and fled, after forcing him to swallow a poison draught.

Physicians said Tuntari had swallowed iodine.

"I was poisoned by two Negroes," the note in his pocket read. "I didn't have a chance to call for help. They jumped into a machine without a license."

DIVIDE COSTS IN DOG QUARREL

A neighborhood quarrel over a dog fight caused a jury in Criminal Court to deliberate eight hours over the division of the costs in the charge of pointing firearms on which Bert Jones, of 16 Exeter place, was tried before Judge Thomas D. Carnahan. The verdict was to divide the costs between the defendant and James J. Doyle, the prosecutor, of 18 Exeter place, adjoining. The question of costs was submitted to the jury after Judge Carnahan directed a verdict of acquittal. Jones pointed a gun at Doyle's dog to prevent injury to his own dog October 18, 1925, according to the testimony.

HELD FOR THEFT OF PENSIONS

Too many bank accounts were the undoing of Franklin S. Searle, 42, Harrisburg, railway mail clerk for 14 years. The federal grand jury yesterday indicted him on 41 counts of unlawful possession, altering, forgery and passing pension checks issued by the Treasury Department to war veterans. Other charges are pending in the central federal district.

On June 1, 1926, he is alleged to have taken at least 10 letters from the mail containing the pension checks. About a year later the checks began to circulate.

Searle is said to have visited 16 banks in Altoona and nearby towns and opened checking accounts.

PUBLISHER TO RUN FOR G. O. P. DELEGATE

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 27.—"Pennsylvania first" will be the slogan of Fred L. Rentz, publisher of the New Castle News, who has announced his candidacy for delegate to the Republican National Convention at Kansas City in June from the Beaver-Butler-Lawrence county congressional district. He seeks election as an uninstructed delegate, but pledges himself to "the best interests of Pennsylvania."

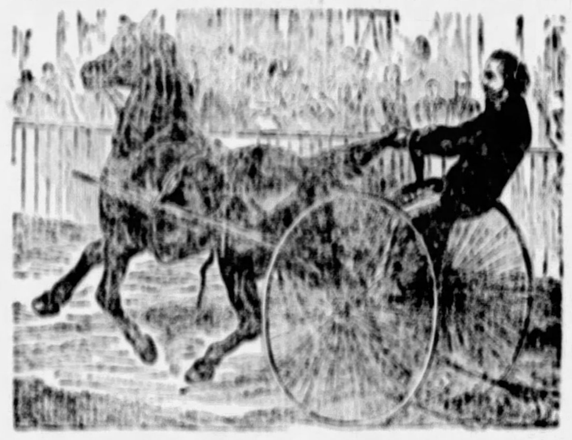
CONGRESSMAN FRISBY SOLVES NATION'S FARM PROBLEM!



Picture shows Frisby in one of his breath-taking demonstrations with horses

By Mister Frisby
Congressman-at-Large

WASHINGTON—I have sat back with amusement while others make their feeble efforts to help the farmer. Now I feel it is time for me to step forward and settle the farm problem once and for all.

Let me state it thus:

Q. What are farms for?
A. To raise grain and hay.
Q. Why grow grain and hay?
A. To feed horses.
Q. What governs prices?
A. Supply and demand.
Q. If everybody uses autos and nobody uses horses, what happens?
A. No demand for grain and hay; prices drop.
Q. What is solution?
A. Everybody sell his auto and buy a horse.

Why, the whole thing is as simple as it can be—anyone with horse sense can appreciate the Frisby Plan.

I am now preparing some rapid-fire legislation to eliminate the automobile and make the nation think in terms of horses. Just as Lindbergh is striving to make the nation "air-conscious," I will make the nation "horse-conscious."

I propose to make a nonstop horseback ride from New York to Guatemala.

Follow me closely—because you are doubtless listening to the next President of these here now United States.

Radio stations are offering silver loving cups for the longest distance telegrams.

This is good, clean sport for the fellow who can't afford polo.

ON "THE GREAT ADJUSTMENT"

It seems people in LOVE are Always at some ACUTE angle,
Either the man leans EARNESTLY
Forward, or the girl LANGUIDLY
Sidewards, but ALL
LOVERS look, at times, as though
They had SPINAL trouble, And
What is true of their BODIES is True of their MINDS. These also Appear to get temporarily
UNBALANCED. And they are LIABLE to see everything,
Including their own FAMILIES, on
The BIAS,
LOVERS, of course, are EMOTIONAL
Creatures. Consequently they stir
Emotions WHEREVER they are Seen, for the SIGHT of
Two people leaning on one
Another for HAPPINESS arouses
Either compassion or CONTEMPT
In the hearts of others. And as Each onlooker VOICES his opinion
One learns what LOVE has done
For HIM! A lover should Be ENVIED a lot or PITIED
A little, for he has a big PROBLEM before him. After two People have FALLEN in love, and Marry, they then have to KEEP Forever UPRIGHT. This is Love's Great ADJUSTMENT.

THIS WAGGISH WORLD by Roy K. Moulton

CAN YOU SVENGALI YOUR BUTCHER?

THE dear old scientists have pulled up their 10-cent-store socks and have got on the job for a bigger, better and brighter 1928. A gang of them have got together now to substitute hypnotism for anaesthetics. It's a great scheme and has more appealing sides to it than an orange drink stand.

IN technical language, it works something like this and if I get too scientific with my terms and soar above the heads of my readers, I hope they will pardon me on the ground of professional enthusiasm.

A patient goes in to call on his physician and says, invariably and without change: "Hello, Doc. How's tricks? Where's the saw and hammer?"

Business is rotten," replies the Doc. "Everybody is getting well. This is a heck of a country."

"Well, Doc, I got to have the old right leg off and I thought I would drop in and have you do it. I got a date for lunch, so make it snappy."

So the doctor does not mess around with a lot of bottles and air pumps and mud plasters and other forms of anaesthetics, but just strikes an attitude in front of the patient, waves his hands and yells:

"Abracadabra. Go to sleep."

"I got you, Doc. Atta boy," murmurs the patient as he dozes off. "Remember, Doc, it's the right leg."

Then the doctor cuts the leg off without pain to anybody, least of all to the patient who is wandering down a bosky dell with fair Gwendolyn by the hand. He wraps the leg up in paper, wakes the patient up, shoves the leg under his arm and sends him home. The hypnosis has been so complete that the patient does not even know that he has only one leg to walk on and doesn't find it out until he gets home and his wife chides him about it.

SINCE this matter was brought to the attention of the scientific world early this year, this column has had its entire scientific staff at work on it.

We engaged the famous hypnotist, Alloojian Boola, the Yogi prince, and tried him out on several hard cases. We had him hypnotize three policemen whoo are usually hard boys to put under, mentally.

Alloojian's experiments taught us that the possibilities of the hypnotic treatment are practically without limit. He even hypnotized a well-known Scotch comedian and made him buy a ticket to a benefit. Our man found it possible to hypnotize persons by telephone many blocks and here is where the value of the proposition appealed to us.

We tried this on our butcher, a very nice man in many ways, but a man of dogged determination to get money for his wares. He has surely offended the smart set of our neighborhood more than once by refusing to send the chops C. O. D. We called this party up by phone and made a few magic passes and repeated the hypnotist's favorite prayer. We told the butcher to send an 18-pound larded roast to our house and to charge it to our account. The patient did not go under the influence at once. Probably he had been hypnotized before.

Finally, after a couple of hours of sign, symbol and cryptic remarks we heard a loud plop as the butcher dropped the receiver and hit the floor and we knew we had bagged our first butcher. A half hour afterward an 18-pound larded roast arrived at our apartment not charged, but with the compliments of the butcher shop.

That is what the new scheme of the scientists amounts to and it's a bear. However, there will be a good many skeptical persons who will take no stock whatever in this theory. So far as we can see, they will be the lucky ones.

Voting Machine Approved By Business Men of State

The Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce, at its annual meeting in Harrisburg, passed a resolution favoring the adoption of the proposed constitutional amendment which would permit the use of voting machines in this state.

The State Chamber of Commerce, in a general way, represents the business interests of the state. Hence, its action is illuminating. It discloses that men who prosper through efficiency methods want efficiency established in the voting booth. It discloses that the men who bear the greater burden of taxation are willing to meet the expense that would be involved by giving Allegheny county, and other counties, the voting machine, should the amendment be passed and our county decide to exercise the option of using voting machines it would provide.

This constitutional amendment will come up for approval in November. Fix that fact in your mind now and keep it in your mind. It is assumed that you favor the amendment, as a matter of course. It is assumed that the guarantee of honest elections provided in the voting machine is of sufficient importance to cause everybody except the political crook to be in favor of the machine method of voting.

Keep in mind the fact that this amendment will come up for your approval in November.

Prizes Indicate Interest In Art of Pittsburgh

In offering a prize of $200 in connection with the eighteenth annual exhibition of the Associated Artists of Pittsburgh, the Department of Fine Arts of Carnegie Institute signifies an interest in local art activities as well as in its greater mission of sponsoring international art. The only institution in this country which conducts an annual international art exhibition offers its prize of $200 for the best group of three or more oil paintings. In addition there will be a prize of $100 given by the Pittsburgh Art Society.

This should have an effect of stimulating public interest in the exhibition of the Associated Artists of Pittsburgh, which will open in the Carnegie Institute galleries Thursday, February 9, and continue for four weeks.

Paintings to be hung are selected by a jury of outside artists, which also makes the award on comparative excellence of the exhibits as well as awarding the prizes mentioned. There should be even more local interest in this exhibition than in the one of greater scope, since the exhibitors are our friends and neighbors. An additional reason is that among them are some very skilled painters. Still another is the possibility of seeing the early work of some young artist who may become a great genius of the future.

Make an Example in Case Of These Jury Tamperers

An extraordinary revelation is that within ten days trials of three causes in our common pleas courts have been abruptly ended by the court because of alleged jury tampering. In each instance the court has ordered the jury withdrawn and continuance of the case.

In one the reason was a conversation between a witness and a juror. In another case a bribe of $10 was said to have been offered to a member of the jury. In the third a witness informed the court in chamber that he had been tendered $100 to leave town or change his story.

This is a matter so serious that the district attorney should conduct an immediate searching investigation in order that the guilty may be brought before the bar of justice. Such practices not only reveal a contempt for the honor of the court, but they are a menace to the rights of all.

Justice to Emergency Army Officers Demanded

A blot still mars the record of our treatment of war veterans.

It is nearly ten years since the war ended, but Congress has still failed to make provision for the class of disabled emergency Army officers.

While the disabled regular Army officers were allowed to retire on three-fourths of their war-time pay, the disabled emergency Army officer gets only a small disability pension.

For example, take the case of colonels more than 30 per cent disabled in the war.

The man who has been colonel in the regular Army is getting a pension of $250 a month. But the colonel who went into the Army as a volunteer from civil life, is getting an allowance of only $30 a month.

Yet he commanded a regiment, performed the same wartime service as the regular officer, was hit by the same kind of shell, and is now equally unable to earn a living.

There is no shadow of excuse for Congress taking care of one class of these disabled men, while leaving the other class to suffer want. The Tyson-Fitzgerald bill corrects the wrong by allowing disabled emergency Army officers to retire on the same pension as disabled regular Army officers. This justice has long been done to emergency officers in the Navy and the Marine Corps.

This is one of the bills which, it is universally admitted, will pass if it can be brought to a vote on the floor of the House and the Senate. Unseen influences have been able to keep it off the calendar in the House. Last year the excuse was the short session of Congress. This year that excuse will not work.

Not even a poverty-stricken country can offord to neglect its wounded officers. Still less this nation, which ended its last fiscal year with a surplus of $635,000,000 and has the prospect of a $600,000,000 surplus this year.

Those huge surplusses are used to pay off the national debt.

How about paying off the prior debt to wounded officers? There are only eighteen hundred of them left—fewer every year—and the Tyson-Fitzgerald bill will cost less than $2,000,000 annually.

Plunkett Sums the Case

Admiral Plunkett, in a sentence, has stated the whole case for an adequate navy and a great merchant marine.

"In order to sell, we must deliver the goods."

A navy sufficient to keep the seas free, a merchant marine sufficient to rid us of dependence on foreign carriers—these are essential if we are to remain a leader in world trade.

WHY?

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

The Earth's Orbit

"I learned in school that the earth and other planets revolve around the sun in ellipses, with the sun at one focus, but I never understood why. It seems that a circle would be more natural; then attraction would be equal all the way around. Please explain.—L. E."

THE earth might have revolved in a circle (which is only a special form of ellipse), but in order to do so it would have had to be launched on its way in a direction at right angles to the direction of the sun, and with a velocity producing a centrifugal force exactly corresponding to the sun's attraction at the planet's distance. Then the speed of the earth in its orbit would have been unvarying throughout the year.

By the law of probabilities the chance of such a strict accordance would be very small, and in fact we do not find a single planet, or comet, or swarm of meteors, traveling around the sun in a circle. All moves in ellipses. Now, a circle, as I have said, is only a particular form of the family of curves to which ellipses belong. I have made a diagram to show this. Take the circle and imagine it tipped away at the top and towards you at the bottom (or vice versa); it will then appear as an ellipse like the one drawn.

Or, to show the relation perhaps we had better go the other way. Start with the ellipse and imagine its two focuses, "e" and "f," to be drawn nearer to one another until they meet in a point at "c." Then the ellipse will appear transformed into the circle of which "c" is the center. But if the circle thus formed is tipped away again its outline will pass back into an ellipse. The nearer the plane in which the circle lies is made horizontal, the narrower the ellipse will become, though always retaining the same length—equal to the diameter of the enclosing circle. Thus you see that the circle is only a critical form through which the ellipse passes, for an instant, when its foci are drawn together and then separated again. This may be thought of as a symbol of the delicacy of adjustment required to cause a planet to travel in a circle, when it has an infinite number of elliptical paths from which to choose one accordant with its velocity and direction.

Ellipse and Circle 1-4

The feature common to motion in a circle and to motion in an ellipse is that, in either case, the areas (in the plane of movement) swept out by the "radius vector" (line joining the centers of the planet and the sun) is equal in equal times. This is self-evident in the case of the circle; it can be proved mathematically in the case of every ellipse.

In our diagram "a—b" is the diameter of the circle and the major axis of the ellipse. But since the diameter of the circle is the same in all directions, "d—e" is equal to "a—b." But "m—n," the minor axis of the ellipse, is manifestly less than its major axis "a—b." But now note this remarkable property of the ellipse: if a line is drawn to any point on its circumference, and from that point to the other focus, the total length of that line always equals the major axis. By studying this relation a little you will see that the period of revolution of a planet in an ellipse must be the same which it would have if revolving in a circle having a diameter equal to the major axis of the ellipse.

Once Overs

By J. J. MUNDY

Keep Enthusiasms

WHEN you reach the point where nothing can rouse you from a state of lethargy, you have ceased to live a full life.

Don't check the boyish enthusiasms you had by too complete control.

It takes a lot of enthusiasm to carry you through the years.

Keep enough enthusiasm to have confidence in yourself.

Take an interest in what you are doing.

Be interested in the things going on around you.

Don't be so cynical that you can't experience joy in the really joyful things.

It is easy to slump back into a colorless existence.

You can slump till everything seems wrong—everyone seems at odds with you and your ideas.

Don't draw into a shell of reserve wherein you bury the emotion which was given you by an All-Wise Creator to distribute happiness all the way through life, not only to yourself but to your associates.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

In Rain

AS SOME must seek peace in ways of pain,
So I find music in the falling rain;
Yes, even in the winter showers chill
That drench deserted gardens, bare and still;
For though all desolate and dark the day,
Ungladdened by the sunlight's mellow ray,
I hear within the patter of the rain
A song of pansies that will come again.
Though stricken gardens know the north wind's strife,
Chill winter rains still nourish hidden life.

What Changes He's Seen

KUPPA BIER, of Hoboken, N. J., has just retired in his one hundred and ninth year. Born in the same year with Queen Victoria, Napoleon died when he was two years old. He might only have seen Bonaparte, but he could remember the first railroad, built in 1827, when he was quite a boy. An Austrian by birth, Mr. Bier could have been a friend of the conqueror's son, the Duc De Reichstadt, who died in that country in 1832. Mr. Bier has seen a great deal. He has always kept the Saturday Sabbath and has 11 living children. He deserves a long and happy old age in Hoboken.

New York Day by Day

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Thoughts while strolling: Those limousine expressions of querulous languor. Money isn't everything. Still it's a lot. Ladies in tweeds pour le sport. Going to matinees. A pushcart sale of mouse traps. And the English novelist who wears ear muffs.

Those bright spaghetti parlors with window kitchens. The actor's earthly paradise—47th and Broadway. The "time-saving" manicure parlor, offering a manicure girl for each hand. You rarely see anyone coming in or going out of a wig shop. Poodle dogs with belled collars.

Zit's new electrical sign. Upstairs tap dancing schools. Dave Stamper and Joe Laurie, Jr. Hasenpfeffer and boiled beef. Staccato laughter. The incessant tramp of broad Oxfords and rhinestone slippers. O, for a big brass band playing a Sousa march!

Box office shieks. Banjo pluckers. And sliding trombonists. Beaunash, who writes of fashions But doesn't seem to care for himself. Charles K. Harris, who wrote "After the Ball." The perfumed soigneurs who wear derbies and know a fellow "who can get it for you."

Pinochle players. Kibitzers. Ladies who resemble rockets from Paine's fireworks. That beggar who drags a twisted body along on an oilcloth pad. Gay burlesquers. "Dead pan" comedians. Hopheads. Touts. And gents with circular hair cuts. And this is the texture of the rich romantic stuff called humanity.

Half-playful and half-malicious Broadway. Ill-mannered yet concealing an unfailing kindness behind bluster. And it never changes. Always obvious and a little mocking. It is the only part of New York that makes the town different from the rest of the world.

The hatless intermission loafers at matinees. You would never think so many men are not working during afternoons. Those plays with a libidio tickle escaping the police by offering finished players in smutty roles. The stroll is over.

At the foot of Broadway is a section honey-combed with shipping offices and known as Steamship Row. Here an army of old men carry the banner for passport photo shops. Also are the huddled groups of shawled women and men in overalls waiting to purchase tickets home.

I am one of those lowly worms completely awed by gentlemen who wear frock coats, lapel flowers and walk about so imperiously in candy and department stores. The other day I approached one in the manner of a mouse nibbling at rat trap cheese.

"What is it you want?" he inquired, and added, "Speak up!" And I never felt so silly in my life telling him I wanted buttercup candles. I felt as though I should dance out interpretatively.

Two girls came out of a shop on Fifth avenue the other evening and a couple of auto flirts swerved up in their car and invited them to hop in. They did.

"Where to?" inquired one.

"The Forty-seventh Street Police Station," replied the girls grimly. They were a part of the new system aimed to check this sort of thing. And a plainclothes man hopped on the runningboard to see that their directions were carried out.

Was He a Criminal?

By DR. FRANK CRANE

James Moore was a 19-year-old boy.

He was arrested some time ago in New York, according to the police reports, for sleeping in a subway station. He was charged with disorderly conduct, a police charge that, like the mother hubbard, covers everything and touches nothing.

Taken before a magistrate he admitted his guilt readily. His explanation was that he saved money that way. "In the day time I work as a mortar mixer and get $35 a week. At night I wash dishes in a restaurant and get my meals there. Then I sleep in the subway. It costs me nothing. I have sent $500 to my mother-in-law in Massachusetts and I have $400 in the bank. I want to be rich."

"Well," said the judge, "it will not cost you a cent to live for the next three months. You will spend it in the workhouse."

This is an example of justice that was very blind.

The case was afterwards reopened and the boy was fined $3 and released.

He ought to have been given a prize.

He may have technically violated the law by sleeping in the subway, but the value of his general actions far outweighs his wrongdoing.

He had learned the first lesson that a boy ought to learn and that is to save money.

He is the kind of man that will not ride on other people's backs as he goes through life, and he will take care of himself.

He is a good example to thousands of youths throughout the country.

Our blame for his sleeping in the subway, which certainly could not have been very comfortable, is lost in our admiration for his general character.

It is a strange note that a man should be arrested for thrift.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON.

"Just What Is This?"

"JUST what is this companionate marriage everyone is talking about—some sort of free love union?"

Many people send that query to this department. For their enlightenment here is an outline of this much discussed plan as given to the writer by Judge Lindsey.

Companionate marriage is NOT "free love" nor "trial marriage" nor a temporary union, nor is it performed by some new and novel ritual.

"It is," says Judge Lindsey, "legal marriage with legalized birth control, and with the right to divorce by mutual consent for childless couples, usually without payment of alimony."

It would employ the same ritual which we now employ, be licensed by the state as marriage is now licensed, and bestow the same social status upon the contracting parties.

BUT IT ALSO WOULD RECOGNIZ, ORGANIZE AND LEGALIZE CERTAIN PRACTICES AND CONDITIONS WHICH NOW PREVAIL BUT WHICH ARE NOT LEGALLY SANCTIONED.

There is much secret malpractice, which is attended with great danger. Judge Lindsey believes that this condition should be recognized and remedied. He believes that parents should be allowed to determine how many children they shall have and when they will have them. He contends that this is being done anyway and should be done safely and legally. He would institute sex instruction for school children and medical examinations to be given before marriage.

He would also have birth control clinics established throughout the country. Such clinics are now legally operating in some of our large cities.

Under the Companionate Marriage plan, CHILDLESS couples could obtain divorces by mutual consent, usually without payment of alimony.

Divorce by mutual consent now exists in fact, but not in theory. Collusive divorces are illegal in America today. The simple desire of a couple to part is not recognized as a ground for divorce in any state of the Union. Yet most of our divorces are actually based on that ground and few divorces occur without collusion.

Judge Lindsay would eliminate such hypocrisy and illegality. He would also eliminate the divorce "graft"—the heavy attorney's fees and the alimony nuisance.

Divorces for COUPLES WITH CHILDREN would be much more difficult to obtain and every effort would be made to prevent such separations.

Under companionate marriage, with divorce by mutual consent, it would be possible for young people to marry while still in school, and maintain their residences with parents until they were able to establish a separate home. This, he claims, would be better for their morals and health than the present long postponement of marriage due to the high cost of living.

Such unions are also possible under our present law. As witness the recent Haldeman-Julius-Roselle marriage.

Indeed, Judge Lindsey points out, all these practices are now prevalent under the present system. He would simply recognize and legalize them and make them available for the poor as well as the rich.

Such, in brief, is Judge Lindsey's plan for Companionate Marriage. What do you think of it? I think it's a new name but the same old Cupid. And he'll keep on functioning in the same old way, whatever the laws—Praises be!
